Associated Press
Rome, Nov. 19.—Premier Mussolini to-day established a gold monopoly and laid the groundwork for possible future requisition of private holdings. This decree followed approval of his Ethiopian conquest campaign and resistance to sanctions by the Grand Council, Fascism's highest authority.

FOOD PRICE DROP LOOMS

Wholesalers Believe Some Produce Will Be Cut One-third By Treaty

Cheaper food will be the result of the tariff agreement which has just been reached between the United States and Canada, in the opinion of Victoria wholesalers to-day.

Many vegetables and fruits will be reduced almost a third in price due to lowering of duties, while high prices at the beginning of the season for other produce will be considerably lowered.

Providing that the amendments will be brought before Parliament as a step toward the objective of eliminating arbitrary executive interference with the normal course of trade, wholesalers believe the market will take on the following appearance when the new regulations become effective on January 1.

Asparagus, cucumbers, tomatoes, peppers, peaches, apricots, cherries, melons and cantaloupes will all be reduced between 25 and 33 1/3 per cent.

In the case of imported peaches and apricots the prices will probably be reduced 50 and 75 per cent.

Cucumbers and tomatoes grown outdoors in California will cut into the local hothouse business here.

The price of cabbages, beets, cauliflower, celery, green peas, spinach, lettuce, plums, pears and strawberries will be lower at the beginning of the season than formerly but will not be changed during the middle of the season when local produce is sufficiently cheap to keep out imported.

Apples will be at least 15 per cent cheaper, while cranberries will be reduced by 10 per cent.

In the reduction of tariffs wholesalers see a general lengthening of the season on most fruits and vegetables.

Nanking, China, Nov. 19.—Delegates to the Kuomintang (Nationalist Party) congress here to-day decided to instruct the government to enforce a programme of nationwide conscription for military service.

The threat of China's semi-detachment from its northern provinces forced the decision.

NEW TRADE PACT READJUSTMENTS SPEEDED TO-DAY

Ottawa Officials Making Arrangements For Canada-U.S. Treaty to Start: Opinions From Varied Interests

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Nov. 19.—Government departments to-day continued their study of the new Canada-United States trade agreement, particularly the National Revenue Department, on whose officials falls a great burden of work in rearranging their administrative activities to meet the new conditions created by the treaty.

In the country generally the comment of those most directly affected by the treaty's operation appeared favorable. Lumbermen particularly saw prospects of wider markets opening up for an industry which the depression, coupled with former restrictive measures imposed by the United States, had seriously affected. While declaring the pact did not go far enough, they regarded it as a step "in the right direction."

CATTLE AND APPLES
Western cattle men welcomed the agreement, envisaging a wide outlet which, until the present year, had been practically closed to them for some considerable time. In the east the produce growers voiced appreciation of some aspects of the treaty. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 6.)

COMPANIES ASKED TO EXPLAIN BASIS OF GASOLINE DUTY

At Federal Hearing Chairman G. H. Sedgewick Rules Onus of Justifying Tariff Is on Them

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Nov. 19.—Onus of justifying the present tariff on gasoline is on the oil companies, chairman George H. Sedgewick of the Tariff Board said to-day at hearing of the reference on gasoline tariffs continued.

The hearing brought from T. A. Brooks, controller of the McColl-Frontenac Oil Company, the statement that his company followed the Imperial Oil Company's prices and did not base its prices to consumers on costs of production and service.

Mr. Brooks was unable to answer some of the questions addressed to him by counsel for the provinces, but said other officials of the company could answer.

Chairman Sedgewick then said the men who could answer should be present. He added that at the board's local hearings many respectable persons had given evidence which the companies should answer. If they could not answer them the board was entitled to draw the conclusion of evidence of those who appeared against the present tariff was correct.

Earlier during to-day's session C. H. O'Halloran, counsel for the British Columbia Government, had made an unsuccessful attempt to get operation (Turn to Page 2, Col. 8.)

Two Referendum Moves Defeated

Police Commission and Publicity Bureau Grant Questions Thrown Out By City Council After Long Debate; Daylight Saving Referendum For July and August Endorsed Unanimously

Victoria will have no referendum on the question of electing a police commission nor on the desire of the voters to support the annual grant to the Victoria and Island Public Bureau. The electorate will, however, be able to determine whether or not the city will observe daylight saving during the months of July and August.

Alderman Andrew McGavin's motions for the two first-mentioned referendums were voted down by the council, with the alderman as the lone champion on the civic board against the publicity bureau grant. He was joined by Alderman Archie Wills in his fight for a vote on an elective police commission, but his motion was defeated.

On the other hand, the council unanimously endorsed the move by

"We taxied the machine for half an hour or so," he said, "but owing to the sticky surface, we failed to rise."

Cheaper Machines For Farmers Soon

Canadian Press
Toronto, Nov. 19.—Miss Agnes MacPhail, M.P., elect for Grey-Bruce, Ont., today applauded the new Canadian-United States trade treaty as it affects the duty on agricultural implements and machinery. The duty is cut in half.

"It could have been impossible for the farmers to have continued to go on as they were going," she commented. "The prices for farm machinery have been prohibitive and the farmers have been forced to use old machines that were entirely inadequate and out-of-date."

The Mexico City newspaper El Universal reported yesterday that six school teachers were slain in the Tlaxiutlan region of Puebla for asserting teaching socialist education.

NEW BORDER RULES SOON

Regulations to Govern Citizens Returning into Canada With $100 Purchases

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Nov. 19.—When Parliament is asked to permit Canadian tourists to bring back from the United States goods to the value of $100 free of duty, the government will submit careful regulations framed to prevent abuse of the privilege. It was learned today in government circles. The regulations have been prepared, but work will be started on them soon.

For many years the United States has permitted its citizens traveling abroad to bring back "personal and household goods, souvenirs or curios," free of duty when not intended for resale. No tourist can claim this exemption from the United States tariff more than once every thirty days, and the tourist must be a resident of the United States. There is also a provision that the purchases must be incidental to the trip to a foreign country. The decision as to that rests with the Treasury Department.

FOR SAME PERIOD
Canada will probably make regulations along similar lines. H. H. Wong, charge d'affaires for Canada in Washington, in a note accompanying the reciprocity pact, wrote that the Canadian Government proposed to invite Parliament to permit entry free of duty and charges of incidental purchases to residents of Canada returning from the United States not exceeding in value $100 "under regulations particularly as to the frequency of such entry and duration of visit, to be prescribed for such time as treatment substantially equivalent to that now in effect is accorded by the government of the United States of America to incidental purchases by residents of that country returning from Canada."

"DICTATORSHIP" TALK IN THE U.S.

Associated Press
Philadelphia, Nov. 19.—Republican Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania says the power given President Roosevelt to conclude commercial trade treaties may lead to a "dictatorship."

Senator Davis departed from a prepared speech at a naval aviation dinner yesterday evening to express disapproval of the commercial treaty signed with Canada.

"I don't like these commercial treaties," he said. "I don't believe this power of lowering tariffs, even if only 50 per cent, should be given to the President. I don't believe there is any man in the world big enough to have such power unless he becomes a dictator."

NEW THEORY ON MOON CRATERS

TREATY QUOTA PLANS STUDIED

Manchester Guardian Says Canadian-U.S. Trade Pact of First Importance

Canadian Press
London, Nov. 19.—The Manchester Guardian to-day said editorially the new trade agreement between the United States and Canada follows so close on the return to power of the King Liberal government that it must be regarded as a political gesture of first importance, whatever its economic bearing may turn out to be.

"It does not appear that the concessions will put United States manufacturers in a position to compete unfairly with this country," declares The Guardian. "though the preference for British goods is obviously diminished. The usefulness of the agreement really turns on the relation between the quotas laid down and the volume of existing trade."

The Guardian added President Roosevelt seemed to have overrated at least the economic importance of the agreement in speaking of it as a revolution in the trade relations of the two countries.

Caused By One Type of Cataclysm, Says Dr. F. E. Wright of Washington, Who Has Counted Them and Found Unexpected Uniformity

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
Charlottesville, Va., Nov. 19.—A great mystery of astronomy, what caused the craters on the moon, came a step nearer solution to-day with the report of a discovery to the National Academy of Science.

The craters, numbering more than 3,000, had been attributed to volcanoes, to meteors smashing astonishingly large holes in the moon's face, and to some sort of cataclysm not yet guessed.

The report to-day showed an unexpected uniformity, indicating the likelihood they were caused by one type of cataclysm, and not by a mixture of three.

This finding came from the simple procedure of counting the craters, according to their sizes. This grouping into families was done by Dr. F. E. Wright of the geophysical laboratory, Carnegie Institution of Washington.

SOOKE LAND FINDS BUYERS

New Settlers Arrive in the District From the Prairies

Sooke, Nov. 19.—Much property has changed hands in Sooke during the last year. Practically every available home has been taken by newcomers who intend to make their home in Sooke. The most recent purchaser of land are Mr. and Mrs. J. Leary, who have bought the property of K. Jensen in Saseenos. Mr. Leary is a retired farmer from the prairies and on coming out to Sooke he decided to settle in the district.

PHILIPPINES BUILD ARMY

President Quezon Says Force at First Will Be 19,000 Men

Associated Press
Manila, P.I., Nov. 19.—The new Commonwealth government of the Philippines is determined to make conquest of the islands "too costly to be profitable," President Manuel Quezon told newspapermen to-day.

He said he planned an immediate standing army of 19,000 men. By the time the Philippines become completely independent of the United States, ten years hence, President Quezon said the country would have 500,000 trained reserves. He planned an $8,000,000 annual outlay for defence.

"We cannot hope to have a navy for many years to come," the island's first president said.

It will be placed in a vault and preserved in isolation for posterity. Its mate will be treated similarly in Washington.

New Russian Campaign Starts

Stakhanovite System Increases Workers' Output; Higher Culture Promised

Associated Press
Moscow, Nov. 19.—Soviet Russia, according to Joseph Stalin, has taken a "preparatory step" in its change from state Socialism to Communism. Opening the Stakhanovite campaign, by which production is being increased through an enlargement of the individual worker's output, the Soviet leader declared all citizens of the U.S.S.R. would have "welfare and more cultured" life under the new scheme, which he termed a "preparatory step" for the shift from Socialism to Communism.

NEW LIFE
Karl Radek, noted political commentator, in an official interpretation of Stalin's speech in the newspaper Pravda, said:

"Stalin's words are a prediction that the time for this new life is coming and we shall live to see it."

Radek said Stalin was following in the footsteps of Nikolai Lenin, one-time Soviet leader. He called attention to the fact that Stalin had reminded his listeners of Lenin's statement that food and other necessities would be distributed according to need, under Communism, and not in regard to the purchasing power of an individual because of his working capacity.

The Stakhanovite system, called "rationalization of movements" for the more efficient use of tools, is now being used in several factories and textile mills. The process has met great opposition, however. Several Stakhanovite workers have been murdered and others beaten.

Djibouti, Nov. 19 (Canadian Press from Haves).—Col. Hubert Fauntleroy Julian, the Ace of Hurnel, was afraid to-day that without him Ethiopia is sure to lose the war. "I couldn't stand these lazy negroes any longer," he boomed in a voice like a foghorn. "I am discouraged." He resigned a few days ago from the service of Emperor Haile Selassie.

AUTO PARTS TO COST LESS

Canada's Duty Cut on Imports From U.S. in Year Estimated at $300,000

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Nov. 19.—Canadian automobile manufacturers and assembling plants stand to benefit by a cut in duty of approximately $300,000 annually on imports of automobile parts and automobile engines from the United States under the new reciprocity pact, it was estimated here today. The total savings from the decreased tariff would be about $550,000 yearly, but a proportion of these would be for the replacements.

Under the general tariff almost $7,000,000 was collected on these imports from the United States in the fiscal year ended last March 31. From next January 1 the trade agreement will afford purchasers the advantage of importing them under the intermediate rate.

On all kinds of automobile parts imported from the United States $5,155,000 duty was collected last fiscal year. The average rate on them under the general tariff was about 32½ per cent. This average rate will be reduced to approximately 27½ per cent under the intermediate rate.

On automobile engines and complete parts on which duty collected last fiscal year was $1,370,000 the tariff rate is changed by from 27½ per cent general to 25 per cent intermediate.

A sum of $66,500 duty was exacted on imports of United States tires in the last fiscal year. The pact reduces the rate on them from 35 per cent general to 30 per cent intermediate.

ONTARIO WILL SHIP CATTLE

Farmers Expect Bigger Market in U.S. Under Trade Treaty

Canadian Press
Sarnia, Ont., Nov. 19.—Cattle breeders and farmers in this section, one of the most intensive cattle raising areas in Canada, were happy today over terms of the Canada-United States reciprocal trade treaty, which reduces the duty on cattle entering the United States about $9 a head. Dairy and poultry producers also were pleased at the prospect of being able to enter the great city of Detroit market.

John Goodson, official of the Goodson Thresher Company, said he anticipated keener competition from U.S. threshing machines.

Harold John, manager of the Canadian Tinplate Company, said a first can western the terms of the treaty did not disclose anything which would harm this business.

URGES TREATY REFERENDUM

U.S. Western Republican Leader Suggests People Vote on Trade Pact

Associated Press
Chicago, Nov. 19.—Harrison Spangler of Iowa, director of the Republican Party, headquarters, in an interview to-day, said the reciprocal tariff between the United States and Canada should have its effective date postponed to give the voters a referendum on the issue in the United States 1936 elections.

He said the treaty was a step toward free trade and a job for American wheat farmers, cattle raisers and industries. He added that Congress should repeal the power under which President Roosevelt can negotiate reciprocal trade agreements.

"This treaty," he said, "has not been approved by Congress or the people." He charged it was the result in the United States of secret negotiations, whereas in Canada it was debated openly and was a plank in the platform on which Prime Minister King was elected.

WORD "TREATY" TABOO IN U.S.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—Although Canadians may refer to the Canada-United States trade agreement as a "treaty" without compunction, that term is taboo in United States official circles. Official title of the pact is "Trade Agreement between Canada and the United States of America."

The reason for this is that while President Roosevelt has full powers from Congress to negotiate a tariff agreement with any country within certain limits, any treaty he makes must be subject to ratification by Congress.

In 1931 Sir Robert got an acclamation. Publication of the Orkney and Shetland vote left only one constituency in doubt—the Scottish Combined Universities, electing three members.

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 19.—A report was current here to-day that some of the 120 mines in this district would be reopened as a result of the reduction from fifty to thirty-five cents a ton in the tariff on crude feldspar entering the United States from Canada under the terms of the new trade treaty. Confirmation of the report, however, was not available. Revival of feldspar production here would give employment to many.

Hunt in Montreal For Stolen Jewels

Canadian Press
Montreal, Nov. 19.—Belief that $7,500 in jewels stolen from Prince Juan de Bourbon and his bride, Princess Marie Mercedes, November 4, while the Spanish royal couple was staying in a Toronto hotel, are in Montreal, has started an intensive investigation by city police and private detective agencies.

Police are working on the theory, they said to-day, that international "smuggler" followed the former Spanish prince and his wife from Montreal to Toronto and perpetrated the theft when opportunity arose.

REFERENDUM AND COMMISSIONERS

IF AS THE CITY SOLICITOR REPORTED yesterday evening, the City Council has no power to hold a referendum relative to police administration in Victoria because the police commission is outside the scope of municipal concern, it is high time legislation was adopted giving the necessary authority to sound out the electorate on the subject.

Whether the council would take advantage of such power, or would be influenced by a referendum, if one were held, or not, is beside the question. It is preposterous that the civic body which on behalf of the taxpayers provides the commission with the cost of operating the police service, can not ascertain whether those who furnish the funds are satisfied with the present system of police control or not. The right of the electors to choose police commissioners was taken from them by the provincial government by order-in-council on the initiative of former Attorney-General Pooley and on the application of the civic authorities, and it ought to be possible to hold a referendum to ascertain whether they want to revert to the elective system or not. The only direct test of public opinion on the subject so far was in the municipal election which followed the abolition of the selection of police commissioners by popular vote, and it is significant that Mr. McGavin, one of the commissioners whose office was arbitrarily removed from under him, was elected to the aldermanic board by a very large vote.

We imagine that no matter what the City Council thinks or does about the subject in any circumstances, the public which provides the money for the police service should wish to choose those who do the spending, for the same reason that they have the right to elect the City Council. This is in conformity with a fundamental elementary principle of democratic government—a principle, by the way, which in other times and with a wider application has been the occasion of a long struggle, and is recognized by everybody except an infant as one of the hall-marks of representative institutions. If the provincial government financed but police service nobody could object to the present system, but it does not.

Incidentally, there are certain anomalies in the existing system which, while they imply no reflection upon the personnel of the police commissioners, are open to objection. Court judges should not be charged with the direction of a police service, for it is not difficult to visualize circumstances in which they might be placed in an invidious position.

There is another aspect of police administration which should receive attention and that has to do with the regular meetings of the commission. These proceedings should be open to the public to a reasonable extent, for the very same reason that the meetings of the City Council and the school board are open to the public. Provision should be made by legislation, if necessary, for open sessions for all bodies which spend any considerable proportion of the public funds on public services. This is public, not private business, and the public is entitled to have first-hand information about it, no matter how efficiently it may be conducted. It is to be hoped that the provincial government will correct some of these anomalies at the first opportunity.

A NOTABLE ANNIVERSARY

TO-DAY MARKS THE SEVENTY-seventh anniversary of British Columbia as a Crown Colony with James Douglas as the first governor. The ceremony in which this great administrator took the oath of office was conducted at Fort Langley in the Fraser Valley, and it is now brightly enshrined among the annals of British Columbia.

Vancouver Island had been a Crown Colony for a considerable period before that occasion, and at the time of the proceeding at Fort Langley Douglas also was its governor. Since then, under the union and within the Canadian confederation, the junior colony on this coast has been transformed into a great domain with a record of extensive industrial development, three important railroad systems, three-fourths of the provincial population, numerous towns and settlements paying tribute to a community on Burrard Inlet which is the third largest city in the Dominion.

The beginning of organized government on the mainland—which for many years afterwards owed much of its progress to the support, direction and inspiration it received from Vancouver Island—was an event of no little significance, and it is particularly appropriate, therefore, that it should be fittingly observed under the sponsorship of the Lady Douglas Chapter of the I.O.D.E., on the initiative of Mrs. R. B. McMicking, a highly-respected pioneer who has made many notable contributions to the historical chronicles of British Columbia.

THE VICTOR

MAYOR McGEER APPEARS TO BE the victor in the Battle of Burrard. His campaign was one of the longest and most spectacular contests of the federal elections, beginning several weeks before the bugle blew for the onset, and lasting at least until yesterday.

During the first counting of the ballots the battle was nip-and-tuck, with the Mayor leading at one time and his opponent, Mr. Webster, another. In an unforgettable instance each was reported to have the election in hand and there was the unique spectacle of both simultaneously thanking the electors for sending them to Parliament. Then came the announcement of the C.C.F. candidate's victory by a few votes, and the Mayor's hopes rested with the absentee voters. These did not change the situation, and finally a recount before County Court Judge Ellis resulted in Mr. McGeer being declared elected by a majority of six.

But this did not end the fray. An application was made to Chief Justice Morrison to invalidate the judicial recount on the ground that Judge Ellis was not a Senior County Court Judge, as prescribed by the law, but this was rejected yesterday. The indications are that Burrard will be represented in the House of Commons by Vancouver's Mayor.

The upshot means that Burrard will not be an inconspicuous figure in the representation of the House, for while Parliament operates on a much larger scale than the Legislature, and a member can not get the Speaker's eye whenever he wants to, it is not Mayor McGeer's way to permit important subjects to pass in oratorical parade without expressing in no uncertain sound the wishes of his constituency. He will be an excellent member, energetic, industrious and able, and with the Minister of Defence, Hon. Ian Mackenzie, will see that the third largest city in Canada receives representation before the seats of Canada's mighty in a manner worthy of its importance.

IT SHOULD HELP

BRITISH COLUMBIA LUMBERMEN have reason to be jubilant over the provisions of the Canada-United States trade agreement because where they were shipping less than 100,000,000 feet of western hemlock and Douglas fir—of which this province has a monopoly—they are now given a quota of 250,000,000 feet board measurement a year.

The result of this concession, according to preliminary estimates, will mean the employment of another two thousand men in the forests of this province. It is difficult for the layman to put into statistics what this new employment can be worked out at on a dollar-and-cents value for the ordinary worker. But the fact is obvious that for every hundred men who go into the forests of British Columbia to take out logs for the manufacture of lumber for export, there must be at least five hundred persons who derive either direct or indirect benefit.

British Columbia's forest industry implies a demand upon factories which turn out wearing apparel and those who produce food. It will be possible for workers in the forests to buy these things cheaper after January 1, 1936, than it has been during the last five years.

The agreement is mainly to help the consumer. Therein lies its chief virtue.

LOOTING CHINA

JAPAN CONTINUES TO MAKE HAY while the sun shines in her stealthy policy of imperial aggrandizement at the expense of China. While a large part of the occidental world is devoting its attention to the Italo-Ethiopian situation and its ramifications, she is planning to take five northern Chinese provinces, with a population of 90,000,000, and put them under one of her puppets. Whether the Nanking government will attempt to resist this wholesale plundering of Chinese sovereignty or not remains to be seen. If it does not it will be guilty of a gross betrayal of its trust and should be appropriately punished by such of the Chinese people in whom remains a spark of patriotism.

China has lost much of the sympathy she received from the outside world through the venality and incompetence of her leaders. Some of her prominent officials have permitted themselves to be nothing but the pliant tools of Japan, parading themselves on the market for purchase to the highest bidder. If China had been inhabited by four hundred million Ethiopians under a leader as patriotic and courageous as Haile Selassie, Japan would not be able to hold even what she has of Chinese territory without ruining herself in the process.

It seems likely, before long, that Japan will find herself in the same unenviable position Italy occupies in relation to the rest of the world, for the League is bound by its covenant to give to China, as a member, the same protection it is giving to Ethiopia, irrespective of Japan's withdrawal from Geneva. If the League had acted in relation to Manchuria as it has in the conflict between Italy and Ethiopia, the ruthless looting of Chinese territory now going on would not have occurred. Japan can not stand up under a world economic boycott; she would blow up instead.

British Labor did not expect to win Thursday's election; but in view of the fact that it increased its strength from fifty-two in the last House to at least 149 in the next, its leaders are hardly likely to feel down-hearted.

Sir Malcolm Campbell, fine sportsman and the world's land-speed king, found running an election campaign nothing like as successful as running the Bluebird over the salty sands of Utah. He ran as a Conservative in the Deptford division of London—by no means a Conservative stronghold—and lost. Although Conservative in his politics, he is thoroughly liberal with his speed in the famous car in which he made history!

Sir George Paish, the internationally-known British economist, ran as a Liberal candidate in the Exchange division of Manchester in Great Britain's general elections last Thursday. It has been solidly Conservative for the last eleven years, but it rejected Sir George for a well-known cricketer, one Mr. P. T. Eckersley, who ran as a straight Conservative. Sir George Paish, by the way, was adviser to the Treasury during the war. If he only had been a cricketer, he might have won a seat in Parliament.

DEATH PENALTY

This strange that mortals will not heed
The motor laws which govern speed.
The violation code outlines
A punishment of fees and fines;
But motorists who laws defy
May also be condemned to die.

A farmer, leaving his abode,
Swung recklessly into the road.
He failed to stop! All unconcerned
Across the highway main he turned.
Looked neither to the left nor right,
And died for just that oversight!

At eighty miles an hour he sped,
His eye upon the road ahead.
He failed to see, until too late,
That farmer swinging through his gate.
On right or wrong why waste a breath?
The penalty for both was death!

Loose Ends

We find a sure escape from the stars—the screen gets serious about things—and some pearls are cast out of Shirley.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

ESCAPE

THE MOVIES are now without doubt the strongest cultural influence on the civilization of North America. They have largely taken the place of parents, schools and churches in giving the young and the middle-aged mind its slant on life. Also, though themselves the product of a machine, they have performed a priceless public service by taking people's minds off the machine age about them.

They are the North American public's one sure escape from reality. If the movies were suddenly to disappear and the average North American couldn't see something pleasantly unreal like Claudette Colbert or Mr. Fields once a week or so, undoubtedly he would rush forth and tear his machinery and his civilization to pieces. The priceless boon of the modern luxury, convenience and security can only be endured if you are given frequent escapes from it. The last thing we want to face is reality.

Emerson, who was a stuffy old gent by modern standards, once said that if the stars on a clear night were visible only once in a thousand years they would be regarded as the most wonderful spectacle in the universe, as they certainly are. The legend of them would be handed down from father to son through generations. The generation which saw them would be marked out among all men as blessed. When the time came for the stars to be seen again, all human activity would cease. Every living thing would stay out all night looking and wondering in dumb amazement.

But because we see them nearly every night we don't pay any attention to them. We don't even bother to look at the stars of the heavens. We would rather go to the movies and see the stars of Hollywood. Looking up at the heavenly stars and facing the reality of our little speck of dust gives us the jitters. It is much easier, for me, at least, to look at Miss Colbert.

REALITY

DEAR ME, the mind wanders. What I had started out to say had nothing to do with Emerson or the stars. I merely wanted to point out that so long as the movies confine themselves to unreality, so long as they are devoted to love and laughter, they get along fine. But when they turn themselves to serious propaganda and come out of the clouds to join in the class struggle, they are apt to make a spectacle of themselves.

Last week was shown here the movies' first important contribution to the economic debate of these times. It was called "Red Salute," and it was a serious attempt by the disinterested owners of the movies to show the American public that Communism and selfish ideas generally were dangerous, dishonest and silly, while the good old way, the way of sound money, Republican administration and big navies, was the only true way. All young men who have any notions about improving the world were shown as long-haired café rats, the heroes were all soldiers in uniform. The heroine was shown as discovering just in time that what she really loved were the Stars and Stripes. As all this was intended for American consumption we could sit back here and consider it impartially.

The movies spent a lot of time and trouble and money over "Red Salute" as their unselfish contribution toward political reaction. But it turned out to be about the silliest picture in a long time. All the critics laughed at it. The intelligentsia said Hollywood might know all about love, but it had a lot to learn about politics and the art of manipulating the public mind.

But the joke seems to be on the critics and the intelligentsia, as it

THANKS WOMEN'S LEAGUE

To the Editor:—I would like, through your columns, to offer my sincere gratitude to the "Women's League for Social Justice" for obtaining relief for me in the city.

When I first applied for relief, I was kept chasing around, "hither and yon" for about three weeks before I was told that I was not a city responsibility. Then an attempt was made to send me to a relief camp.

Having heard of the Women's League, I appealed to them for help, which was immediately forthcoming. After a thorough examination of my case, they began sending delegations and letters to both the city and Sanjoh relief authorities, with the result that, finally I was placed on relief in town.

Had it not been for the Women's League, I would probably be stagnating in a relief camp, or still "chasing around" pursuing the odd job, and worrying about where the next meal was coming from.

The Women's League for Social Justice, as the name implies, was organized to take up all cases of social injustice, and try to obtain redress for the individuals or groups concerned. From now on, they will certainly receive my wholehearted support, and should be given the co-operation and aid of every progressive individual.

A NEW YOUTH LEAGUE

To the Editor:—May I be extended the use of your valuable columns to announce to the general public the formation of a new youth organization in this city, the Youth League for Social Justice.

This organization is a direct outcome of the anti-war meeting sponsored by the Women's League for Social Justice which was held at the Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday, November 6, where the idea of its formation was suggested by the speaker representing the youth. The following Friday a meeting of youth was held at the Y.M.C.A., where the organization was officially formed. The Youth League for Social Justice, a non-partisan organization, has for its object, similar in nature to that of the Women's League for Social Justice, the exposing of all forms of social injustice affecting youth. All between the ages of sixteen and thirty, who are in sympathy with this object are eligible as members. Meetings are held each Friday at 8 p.m. in room C at the Y.M.C.A.

The urgency of present-day youth problems should gain for this organization the support of all. All thus inclined are extended a sincere invitation to attend the meetings. The Youth League for Social Justice.

DICKENS

To the Editor:—I read Mr. Leonard's letter on the above subject with mingled feelings of amusement and humiliation. For years I have read Dickens and indulged in the fallacy that he was a great novelist, but now my illusions have vanished for I find, according to Mr. Leonard, that he is unreadable to-day by any civilized man. Woe is me, I am uncivilized yet, amid a wealth of culture in British Columbia.

I am, however, pleased to learn that Dickens was "a facile and careful writer," and that he was very good for the age he lived in. I am disappointed that, such an accomplished writer, he should have been confirmed by such an outstanding critic as Mr. Leonard.

Only a few years ago a literary paper—I think it was John O'London—published a questionnaire asking the public to vote on what was the greatest novel in the world. Hundreds of thousands of the best literary minds of Great Britain voted "David Copperfield," by Charles Dickens. This shows how hopelessly out of date the British are. They even stick to the Ten Commandments, which the modern people have practically abandoned years ago as being old-fashioned. You also find a few reading the works of that obsolete writer, Shakespeare, notwithstanding the dead age in which he lived. A new film, "Geroge," will be shown on November 23 in London. This story is taken from the Christmas Carol by Charles Dickens, and the bet is dollars to doughnuts that most of those ignorant islanders (ignoring the age the play was written in) will crowd the houses.

The attitude of American and Canadian critics towards old writers is weird in the extreme. They never cease boasting of their democratic progress in this progressive age, and yet they discountain like Dickens and Burns, who were hundred years ahead of their times in democracy.

Oliver Twist practically reformed the Poor Laws of Great Britain; Nicholas Nickleby, the schools, and "Pickwick" Papers, the

Upheaval Due In 1937 Says Scott

Machines Displace Labor at Accelerating Rate, Declares Technocrat Leader

"The next technological impact on this continent is going to be in 1937 and it will come in with a big wallop. There will be 36,000,000 unemployed human beings at the bottom of this next oscillation and you can then kiss every human institution you have on this continent good morning."

"When the majority go on relief then the fun is going to begin because it is not going to be safe to be on relief on this continent very soon."

This was the prophecy and warning uttered by Howard Scott, world-known father of technocracy, who came to Victoria and addressed a large meeting at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday evening.

He outlined the organization of society that is being forced by the technological development which is continuing to increase production with fewer and fewer jobs and men at work, thus at the same time decreasing purchasing power.

He said that the old price system under present conditions was only kept going by injections of large government spending on relief, public works or aid to corporations.

The new technocratic system was being forced by the development of the machine, he explained. Under it all citizens—men and women, would participate equally in the products of industry. Each man would have to work only 125 days a year, for twenty years and standards of living with a scientific sharing of the products industry is now capable of producing would be higher than any now experienced.

He asserted that the growth of unemployment accompanied by the increasing productivity was forcing the change in society. He said people were not organized yet for the change. He urged them to organize and prepare themselves.

"If you have any fear, prejudices or beliefs, do not bring them into technocracy; throw them into the ash can where they will have lots of company," Mr. Scott said. "Relief is the only growing enterprise on the North American continent."

"It is not a problem of who owns this continent because so few own it. There are 37,000 families in the United States who have 9.4 billion dollars of wealth, while 12,000,000 other families divide only the same amount. The problem is not who owns it, but what are you going to do about it."

"The politicians—soft scamps you but we fault you in the hope that you will have an occasional lucid moment. We are trying to get you to see that all the conceptions human beings held about the social organizations during 11,000 years may have worked during a period of scarcity and economy, but it cannot work under another condition."

"There are only two classes of people, chiselers and suckers, and it is the ambition of every sucker to become a chiseler."

"Relief is not temporary on this continent, it is permanent under this price system—and you are going to see a lot more of it."

"When we engineers develop machinery to-day we throw a lot of people out of work."

"Technocracy predicted in 1919 that this social condition would develop in 1930 and this condition is accelerating every year."

"Forty some years ago the glass blowers were the aristocrats of the labor world; they even wore silk shirts. But where are they to-day? They aren't anywhere. Along came the engineers who devised the cylinder glass blowing machine, and the workers were all out. There are not enough employed in the window glass industry to form a union."

Mr. Scott said the cigar industry had gone the same way. To-day the Washington cigar-making machine turns out 1,000,000 cigars with the aid of four girls.

He said the engineers had only started, and that in another few years technological progress would throw another fifteen or sixteen million men out of work.

"The last five years on this continent have produced more social thinking than the previous fifty years," Mr. Scott went on. "And now we are going to get somewhere."

"It is only within this century that science has moved up to where it has pre-empted the human being as an engine. At the time of Adam Smith it was true that labor was the basis of all wealth. But to-day only 2 per cent of the energy produced is by human beings, 98 per cent is from coal, oil and water power."

Mr. Scott declared that because of the new technological condition of this continent, it would be impossible to import any political theories such as Marxism or Communism from any other continent.

"What kind of a relief picture is coming?" Mr. Scott asked. "There are 1,400,000 in New York City on relief. Last July the relief expenditures were $18,000,000. For the month just passed, it was $22,000,000. It is an ascending curve. Calumet, Mich., the copper mining city, is 85.3 per cent on relief. In Gerard, Ohio, 93.7 per cent are on relief."

MINING OF THE FUTURE
Mr. Scott went on to tell how a coal miner in Britain or Russia produces less than one ton of coal a day. In Illinois there is one machine that produces 10,000 tons of coal a day with 600 men, and plans for technological improvement there will produce 30,000 tons a day with only twelve men.

He said streamlined trains with Diesel engines were running for 28 cents a mile, against $1-to-$1.06 a mile for the old steam trains. Every two streamlined trains put into operation displaced four old steam trains with their crews. Number of employees on railroads of the United States had fallen from 2,300,000 to around 1,000,000, and improvements would be made soon reduce that total by 400,000 more.

For the first time in history the steel mills were now putting in automatic machinery and in Pittsburgh in a few weeks sheet steel will flow out in an unending stream from a machine, with practically all workers displaced.

He said that the technocrats had in 1932 predicted that the nation's frugality in United States before the next year was out would close most of the banks in the country, and this happened as predicted. The banks actually beating the technocrats to it by two months.

He urged sympathy for the bankers as when more than 60 per cent of the banks have their holdings of 60 per cent government bonds, there will not be any money in banking. He said that condition would approach in a year or so.

He predicted there would be closing of many gasoline stations soon, as one well-known automobile firm in 1936 was bringing out a Diesel tank that would run 750 to 1,000 miles on one filling of the fuel tank.

He said engineers were now bringing forward a plan to cheapen cars by which the oil companies would be linked up with the automobile companies. The automobile dealers would be eliminated. A person wanting a car would apply a gasoline station and pay a deposit and one cent a mile.

"The conduct of human affairs to-day is no longer dependent upon the matter of human opinion," Mr. Scott said. "What do you decide in this civilization to-day? All you decide is whether to purchase or not to purchase. You have nothing to say about the design or anything else about the goods that are offered you."

"The day of counting noses for social decisions is gone, although it may have been effective in an agrarian economy. But to-day the counting of noses means only the counting of noses. When you mark your ballots you are only kidding yourselves."

Mr. Scott said the engineers decided the design and kind of articles the purchaser had to choose between. The choice was up to a point where the bond-holders interfered. He said if it were not for the interference of the bond-holders better equipments would be available. He instanced the telephone, which he said the engineers had developed and which would displace anyone in any part of this continent without interference of an operator and if the person called were not on the phone, by a simple contrivance, would record the message which would be repeated when the person came in.

Mr. Scott said that production in United States was now at 97 compared with the 1929 peak of 100. He went on to give instances of technological improvements of the last few years that are now displacing thousands more men. A cotton-picking machine will pick an acre at 90 cents compared with $10 to $20 by hand-picking. A new Faraday wheat-growing process grows wheat from the seed to the finished stalk in ten days. By it in a three-story building 1,000 free-living, twelve men will produce as much wheat as prairie farmers on 35,000 acres.

"So, for the first time in history you have to arrive at a new basis of distributing purchasing power," Mr. Scott went on. "Never under the old price system are we going to approach the employment of 1929. We are going to get further and further away from it. The corporations are as much on government relief as individuals are. The trend of man now in every field is less and less because it is cheaper to use extensive energy than human energy. You cannot distribute enough purchasing power under the present system to keep the thing running."

"We are in favor of every government going out and raising as much debt as it can, because there is as much chance of collecting the debts as much chance of collecting the debts as a cellulose dog has of catching an asbestos cat in hell. The sooner you get it over with the better."

Mr. Scott said that in Canada the government had the wheat and part of the C.P.R. Also the C.P.R. would like to be bought by the government and be paid for in good government bonds, because its equipment was out-of-date. He said the government might as well take it over and put in modern Diesel equipment and put thousands more men out of work.

William Walker, director of the technology organization, Vancouver, spoke of organization matters. Charles Hunt was chairman.

ELECTION PLANS MADE BY COUNCIL

Official cognizance of the approaching civic elections was taken by the City Council at its meeting yesterday evening when it passed the different routine motions required annually by law.

M. F. Hunter, city clerk, was appointed returning officer, and E. E. Coady-Johnson deputy returning officer.

The date for nomination day was set at Thursday, December 5, with papers being filed at the City Hall from 12 o'clock noon to 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Election day will be December 12 and the polls in the public market will be open from 9 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock in the evening.

Provision was made for the election of the mayor as well as for five aldermen and four school trustees.

M. F. Hunter was thanked for the use of his copyright ballot form which will be used at the elections.

LICENSE FEE CHARGE MADE

Councillor T. H. Hodgson, Esquimalt, Complains Payments Remitted

Charges that license fees were being improperly remitted by the municipality of Esquimalt were made at last night's meeting of the municipal council by Councillor T. H. Hodgson, who claimed that the total involved amounted to some $300 annually.

Concerning which Councillor Hodgson claimed were not paying fees at all, or paying less than the minimum provided for in the by-law, included British Columbia Electric Railway Company and the British Columbia Telephone Company, as well as a number of lesser concerns.

Reeve Alexander Lockley explained that the B.C. Electric was charged the lowest rate possible because it had continued to pay taxes amounting to $800 annually on property at the George from which little or no revenue had been derived. The company, he pointed out, had been paying the amount to the municipality since 1925, and this was a good feeling towards Esquimalt.

In many of the other cases quoted by Councillor Hodgson, said the Reeve, collection of an extra $10 in license fees would mean a loss of considerably more annually in taxation.

"The B.C. Electric is no asset to the municipality," said Councillor Hodgson.

It was finally decided to appoint a committee consisting of the Reeve and Councillors Thomas Hadfield and Frederick G. Eaton to report on the license situation.

Look Ahead Speaker Urges

Proper Shaping of Future Is Concern To-day, Says Prof. L. Robertson

Attention to-day should be concentrated upon the proper shaping of the future rather than the restoration of the rural population conditions of fifty or sixty years ago, which is hopeless, said Professor L. Robertson, head of the department of classics at the University of British Columbia, during an address to Central School yesterday evening.

Prof. Robertson spoke on "Rural Depopulation as I Have Seen It." J. L. Watson was the chairman.

The speaker sketched the rural life which he knew as a boy in Prince Edward Island fifty years ago. He said his own relation to the classics was directly associated with the subject, quoting Plato's "when the time of financial depression comes and the situation of the world seems desperate and it seems the only solution is reduction of interest or redistribution of land, the cry immediately rises that the only thing you must not touch is vested interests." This quotation might have been written in 1935, he said.

Prof. Robertson told of the dwindling of rural population throughout the Maritimes, Ontario and the other older sections of the Dominion.

The activities of country communities before the advent of machinery had necessitated large rural populations because all work now done by machines had been done by hand.

Any attempt to have society retrace its steps was hopeless, he said, referring to Greece, Italy and other ancient civilizations.

M. Hutchinsou, superintendent of the city's lighting plant, sprang a surprise on the members of the streets committee at their meeting last evening when he announced that he had only recently discovered that when the Causeway was paved his plan for conduits for the wires to the rows of ornamental lights on the walls had not been included, and that therefore some new scheme would have to be devised for the laying of the necessary wires.

The streets committee of the City Council at last evening's meeting decided to adopt the recommendation of the city engineer that a four-inch water main be laid on Carlin Street from Cook Street westward at an estimated cost of $500. No decision was reached respecting the proposed widening of Denman Street between Richmond Road and Clarke Street.

Packages From Britain
Through U.S. Must Pay Full
Duty, Chamber Told

Victorians who have merchandise shipped from the United Kingdom, via United States must pay the regular customs rates when the goods enter Canada from the United States, according to a ruling received by the Chamber of Commerce directors from F. W. Davey, collector of customs, yesterday.

The directors recently drew to Mr. Davey's attention a case where a Victorian received a package of seeds from the Old Country which had been routed by the postal authorities, through New York.

When receiving the package, here he was required to pay the United States tariff on it and did not benefit by the British preference.

In reply Mr. Davey stated this was a frequent occurrence and had often occurred even when the parcel had been marked for routing through a Canadian seaport.

The regulations required payment of the regular rate on such a parcel, he said.

Members felt this an unfair situation, and George McGregor stated he did not think it right that the recipient here should have to pay for a mistake on the part of the postal authorities who were responsible for the routing of such a parcel through United States.

It was felt the best action that could be taken was to bring the situation to the attention of the public through the press.

URGE HOUSING PLAN IN CITY

Chamber Directors Seek
Benefits From Federal Act
For Victoria

A move to have the new Canadian Federal Housing Act applied in Victoria was instituted by directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday. A special committee, to be appointed by the president, will conduct investigation to determine whether or not the scheme may be made applicable here.

The move was started by J. V. Johnson, who understood the act was passed on June 25 of this year. Under its terms it was possible to borrow up to $5,000 out of the value of a new home, 60 per cent of which was contributed by insurance companies and 20 per cent by the government. The remainder was contributed by the owner, Mr. Johnson said.

He pointed out that various Canadian cities were enjoying the benefits of this legislation and could not see why Victoria should not share in it. C. J. McDowell, a guest at the meeting, stated the act was inoperative here because the insurance companies had not been advised by head offices in regard to details of the proposal. Local insurance companies had been approached, Mr. McDowell understood, and on making inquiries at their head offices they were informed the companies were not prepared to go ahead.

Mr. McDowell understood the plan was working favorably in Toronto and other sections of Ontario and felt pressure should be brought upon the proper authorities to have it made operative here. Alan Chambers, also a guest, stated he had not heard of its operation in Nanaimo federal district. D. O. Cameron, who has recently returned from a trip to California, stated he had an opportunity of seeing the benefits of the U.S. federal housing scheme during his visit and he voiced warm praise for it, stating it had been responsible for a distinct revival in the building and building supply industries.

Mr. Cameron explained that the loans were made through the bank and using a $5,000 home for an example, stated a twenty-year mortgage was issued to cover it. Interest was charged at the rate of 5 per cent and payments usually amounted to about $40 a month.

Mr. Cameron also mentioned the Government guaranteed the banks against any loss and the banks were permitted to sell the agreement to prevent the tying up of the capital, he said. "Things are bounding along in the building industry down there," he said.

Questioned after the meeting, one insurance agent here stated he had been approached regarding the housing plan and on inquiry at head offices in eastern Canada had been informed that the government was not prepared to guarantee the loans of the companies and thus the loans became frozen assets of the companies.

The committee will deal with all phases of the question before reporting back.

ELFORD STREET TREES WILL GO

In the heat of warm debate and the rush of heavy business the city council yesterday evening almost forgot its most popular theme—trees.

But the parks committee jumped in to fill the breach with the recommendation "that all oak trees growing on Elford Street, north of Pandora Avenue, be removed, and the city engineer instructed to remove them; and that the city purchasing agent be instructed to try to dispose of the wood to a packing house or fish curer at the best price obtainable."

The motion carried.

HOUSING PLAN BEING SOUGHT

Retail Lumber and Shingle
Association Wants New Provisions
Extended to City

Acceleration of action to assist those wishing to build homes by giving them the advantages of loans under the Dominion Housing Act, was sought from the City Council by the Victoria Retail Lumber and Shingle Association in a letter read at the council meeting yesterday evening.

The matter was referred to the business and trades development committee.

The letter outlined the application of the new housing act, noting certain firms in Vancouver had provided loans for the work. It suggested similar loans might be allowed by branches of approved firms here, and outlined the value of home construction to various trades and the city generally.

WOULD PROHIBIT SEINE FISHING

A special committee will be named by the president of the Chamber of Commerce to decide whether or not Victoria will support the resolution of the Courtenay-Comox Board of Trade, asking the prohibition of seine fishing on the east coast of Vancouver Island within three miles of shore from the north end of Seymour Narrows south.

The resolution proposes to exempt fishing for chum salmon after October 10.

STREETS MUCH IN DISCUSSION

Large Part of Business Before Esquimalt Council
Concerns Roads

The question of the roads and sidewalks of the municipality received more than usual prominence at last night's meeting of the Esquimalt Council.

Among communications received by the council were a letter from John Dean suggesting repairs to the fences along the high part of the Esquimalt Road sidewalk in the Fraser-Dunsmuir Streets area; communications from the municipal engineer and the B.C. Telephone Company on the subject of painting the bottoms of telephone and lighting poles white on parts of Esquimalt Road, and a protest from the Esquimalt Women's Institute on the subject of the throwing on the streets by Chinese vegetable peddlers of refuse.

BLIND PEDESTRIANS

The Canadian Institute for the Blind wrote to the council requesting that traffic regulations be amended as they had been in the city of Victoria to provide for absolute right of way at intersections for blind pedestrians armed with white canes. This letter was referred to the chief of police and will be considered at the next meeting.

A request from the C.C.P. Unemployed Council for increased relief allowances during December also entered into the road and sidewalk discussion. It was suggested that extra work could be found for relief men in repairing sidewalks.

The question of the installation of street lights on Victoria View Road, opposite the Imperial Gas Company gates, at the end of Armit Street and at Colville and Tillikum Roads, was also discussed and held over till the next meeting.

A by-law authorizing a loan of $700 to cover the municipality's share of relief costs for August, September and October was finally passed last night by the Esquimalt council.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

ROYAL TREASURE IN CLOUDS

When minstrels came to the great King Charles IV of Bohemia and described to him the castle of the Holy Grail, that powerful ruler decided to have a castle just like the one pictured by the wanderers. So in 1346 began the construction of Karlstein Castle, not far from Prague, atop a gigantic promontory, impregnable and magnificent as it dominated the countryside.

Within its walls, which were fifteen feet thick, stood palaces and chapels and banqueting halls that were the envy of princes. Towering above all was the massive citadel which held the royal treasures and state archives and which itself was lavishly decorated with semi-precious stones and superbly paneled by the greatest painters of the day. Some of these panels concealed holy relics which could be viewed through crystals in the screens. To-day tiny holes attest this fact.

This "treasure in the clouds" can be seen on two types of stamps issued by Czechoslovakia in 1926 and 1927.

Park Grandstand Already Endorsed

A letter from the Victoria Ratepayers' Association, protesting against the proposed expenditure of $5,000 on a grandstand for Macdonald Park, brought forth the stand by the City Council that the project had already been endorsed.

The council in general agreed with Alderman James Adam a stand was needed in the park which, while representing a considerable expenditure, would not achieve its fullest use without suitable accommodation for spectators.

Great Composers Recital Feature

In commemoration of the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the birth of Bach, Handel and Scarlatti, a novel programme of piano and vocal numbers by these composers was rendered by the pupils of Olive Campbell, in Hollywood Hall, Saturday evening. The guest artists were Mrs. L. M. McClellan, who gave much pleasure in her singing of "Come, Let Us All This Day," "In Faith I Quiet Wait" (Bach), "Art Thou Troubled" (Handel). In addition to rendering two pianoforte numbers by each composer, Nancy Kyle gave an appropriate reading of the life of each. The following numbers were much enjoyed: Bach - Bourée, Fugue, Minuet, Gigue, Prelude, Rondo, "Gleders Awake," "O'er the Smooth Emmeled Green," "My Heart Ever Faithful," Handel - Air, Sarabande, "See the Conquering Hero Comes," Scipio-March, Gavotte, "Lonely and Weeping," Scarlatti - Pastorale, Sonate, "Air de Ballet."

At the commencement of the recital four pupils under twelve years: Billy Dempsey, Margaret Wright, Flora and Margaret Norris, played a piece of their own composing, the theme only having been given by the teacher. These and the following contributed to the programme: Jean Norris, Marian Stielern, Constance Barlow and Betty Swartz.

After timely remarks to the students, certificates from Toronto Conservatory and the Royal School of Music were presented by Mr. John Kyle to Margaret and Jean Norris, Dorothy Fuller and Nancy Kyle.

HOLIDAY BALL FOR CHILDREN

Len Acres' ten-piece orchestra has been engaged. Mrs. Johnston read an interesting report of the provincial semi-annual meeting at Powell River, which she attended as the chapter's delegate. Mrs. Jean Bowden convened the affair, which was an outstanding success. The stalls were most effectively decorated. A color scheme of mauve and yellow, with chrysanthemums in the two shades and yellow candles, was used on the home-cooking table, in charge of Mrs. M. Robson. Mrs. L. Thompson was convener of the fancywork stall, which was arranged in a color scheme of green and yellow. Green, rose and white were used by Mrs. A. Taylor in decorating the candy stall. Mrs. A. Brooks was in charge of the Pioneers' Club apron stall. The prize for the best decorated table was awarded to the Qu-Ar Girls' Club, under the direction of the president, Miss Annie Reid. The club colors of blue and gold were used effectively in decorating this stall, at which miscellaneous articles found a ready sale.

Popular music will include the hits from the recent motion pictures as follows: "Cheek to Cheek," "Isn't It a Lovely Day?" "Without a Word of Warning," "When I Grow Too Old to Dream," "When the Leaves Bid the Trees Good-bye" and numerous other light numbers for the enjoyment of tea patrons.

SEEK CHINESE FOR FILM ROLES

Seattle, Nov. 19.—The city's adult Chinese passed up their chance today to break into the movies with Paul Muni in his next picture, "The Good Earth."

But the boys and girls... that was different.

Muni and Max Siegel, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer executive, found themselves besieged by young Chinese hopeful of film careers.

Two hundred paraded before Muni and Siegel and out of the crowd they found six girls "who might make the grade."

Siegel and Muni expected to finish their interviews in time to leave for Portland to-night to continue their search for Chinese talent.

The lack of adults, Siegel said, "was just as well because in San Francisco our experience was just the opposite."

Young China turned out in large numbers to watch the seekers of film fame go through their movie try-outs last night.

Queen To Honor Y.W.C.A. Party

Her Majesty to Receive
Purses at Eightieth Birthday of Association in London.

London (By Special Correspondent).—Girls from fifty-six countries, dressed in national costume, are to present purses to the Queen at the eightieth birthday party of the Young Women's Christian Association to be held in London shortly.

Among those representing China in the audience will be Miss Koo, daughter of the famous Chinese diplomat, Mr. Wellington Koo.

The most curious dress will be worn by a Filipino from Manila, Miss Flora A. Ylagan. It will be of plaited grass and pineapple fibre dyed purple and ornamented with rainbow-colored flowers. The Argentinian will carry the traditional poncho, or blanket-coated, while the Latvian girl will wear a dozen stiffened petticoats, a gaily-dyed frock and a traditional jeweled headress.

Next to the Queen, the most honored guest at the party will be the veteran Hon. Emily Kinnaird, the "little grandmother" of the Y.W.C.A. She and the association will celebrate their eightieth birthdays together.

FOUNDED BY MOTHER

It is sixty years since she first began to interest herself in the association, of which her mother, the late Lady Kinnaird, was co-founder with Miss Emma Roberts.

"In those times women were most uninteresting," she told me to-day. "I'm afraid that for a while I much preferred working among the navies, for whom we ran a sort of club at my father's house."

"You see women had no interests then, except marriage, and even then they had to marry the man who was chosen for them."

"But that's all changed now. Women have plenty of other interests beside marriage, and they choose for themselves."

"I, for one, hope that it won't be long before women propose as well as men."

"I have a great admiration for the modern girl, and I think women have become so interesting that I prefer to work with them now, rather than with men."

Miss Kinnaird has a fund of stories about difficulties under which her mother worked in the 1850's.

"She was not allowed to sign any letters appealing for funds for her work, and that was not thought a fitting thing for a woman to do," explained Miss Kinnaird.

"So my father had to sign the letters for her. Later, when a secretary was required for the rapidly growing Y.W.C.A., it was necessary to have a man, because it was impossible for a woman even to go into a bank."

MEN-ONLY CITY

"I can remember being taken into the city about 1870, and feeling terribly shy because there was not a woman to be seen anywhere."

Through her six years' work for the Y.W.C.A., Miss Kinnaird has become one of the most famous professional beggars in the country. She has raised tens of thousands of pounds for the association—and is still collecting money.

At the Albert Hall meeting she will present to the Queen twenty-five purses, each containing £30—the result of her latest appeal.

"I learned a great deal about the art of begging from the late Lord Knutsford, the 'Prince of Beggars,' who raised many thousands for London hospitals."

"He taught me to be untidy in my letters. 'It's a great mistake ever to make begging letters look too official,' he used to say. And he often had his letters of appeal lithographed with a mistake deliberately left in!"

SOVIET WOMEN GO GAY

Lipstick, Paris gowns, jazz and cigarettes are working a second revolution among the women of Russia, according to the Princess de Rohan, who has been commissioned to design dresses for the Kamenny Theatre at Moscow and is also the head of a London and Paris famous fashion house.

When she was last there, she says, she saw six women driving steam rollers, all smoking hard!

She cannot remember whether they used lipstick, too, but "they looked very charming," and, anyway, there are, in the shops, quite big windows displays of make-up."

"But 'the Soviets want to be the best dressed nation in the world,' she declares, "and I think they will succeed."

"When I go to Russia they always ask me to bring dresses along with me! What is being worn in Paris—not quiet clothes."

"I have made scarlet evening frocks for them, trimmed with feathers, and lame frocks, too."

"Jazz has made everyone feel brighter, and the standard of living is going up fast. You do not see women with shawls on their heads, but hats, and not had hats at that. Nice printed frocks, and silk stockings."

Princess de Rohan, who denies reports that she has been appointed official dress adviser to Soviet Russia, is returning there for a visit in December.

MILITARY FASHIONS GROW

Meanwhile, fashions for women are becoming still more military. The latest development in Paris is a hat which is an exact replica of those worn by cadets at St. Cyr—the French Sandhurst.

These hats, or rather caps, have high crowns with red and white plumes falling over the front. A blonde wearing one with a black ensemble at Longchamp was escorted by three young St. Cyr's, wearing caps exactly matching hers.

British tweeds and Scottish tartans are also in high favor in Paris. While low-heeled shoes of the English sporting pattern are replacing the high-heeled shoes of traditional French type.

This swing toward English fashions is accompanied by tributes in the French press to the beauty of British evening gowns.

MARRIED WOMEN IN JOBS ISSUE

Associated Press

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Recent discriminatory moves against cupid and motherhood in business and industry today aroused young women business, professional and industrial representatives attending meetings of two National Y.W.C.A. councils.

It was learned resolutions would probably be drawn up protesting the trend toward treating women who marry, or married women who have babies, to quit their jobs.

Jane Addams's Successor Long With Hull House

The "prettiest girl in Hull House" when she took up residence there nearly forty years ago, the new portrait of Mrs. Adena Miller Rich, now director of the famous Chicago settlement, shows that the years have dealt with her kindly. She is surrounded by children during a reading hour at Hull House.

By ELIZABETH WALKER

Chicago—An aura of mystery hovered around Adena Miller Rich, who has succeeded the late Jane Addams as head resident of Hull House in Chicago.

Her appointment was announced, only the briefest facts concerning her long and varied experience in social work were recorded. Neither Who's Who nor any of those "directories of prominent women," so-called, made any mention of her.

Her activities, on behalf of the underprivileged, especially those of alien birth and ancestry, have won her such a national reputation in welfare circles, however, that the trustees of the oldest of American settlements, when they set themselves the seemingly impossible task of finding a successor to Miss Addams, unanimously chose her.

The story of Adena Rich is inextricably interwoven with that of Hull House.

Two decades ago, when she was embarking upon her career of civic service, a slim, golden-haired creature with wide blue eyes, who was acclaimed "the prettiest girl in social work," she went to Hull House to live.

BECAME MISS ADDAMS'S SECRETARY

"I shall never forget how worried I was about getting in," Mrs. Rich recalled the other day, sitting at the sacred mahogany desk in the little book-lined study which for nearly half a century served as office for Miss Addams. "I was afraid my credentials wouldn't be acceptable. And even after I was admitted, I was scared to death that I wouldn't last out the six months' probation which new residents, then as now, had to pass."

At Hull House, Mrs. Rich met her future husband, Kenneth F. Rich, a young stockbroker, whose aunt was one of Jane Addams's early associates. After their marriage, they set up housekeeping in the Hull House Apartments, a special building set aside for couples wishing to combine the inspiration of settlement life with a normal wedded existence.

Their residence there naturally kept the new Mrs. Rich in touch with what was going on in the House, for one of the requisites to tenancy was and is the leisure-time participation of tenants in its activities.

For a time Mrs. Rich acted as Miss Addams's secretary. Later she directed the evening and young people's clubs. And when her professional attention began to focus sharply upon the work of the Immigrants' Protective League of which she now is director, she became Hull House's official ambassador in all matters pertaining to the foreign-born.

Once she gets her administrative work organized she plans to divide her time fifty-fifty between Hull House and the Immigrants' League.

Mrs. Rich is not quite sure what first turned her thoughts seriously toward social welfare unless, perhaps, it was the studies she took in college—chiefly economics and sociology and ethics. Nevertheless she is very certain that the fellowship to the Chicago School of Civics and Philanthropy which she won last year at Oberlin, the what-headed her toward Hull House.

After completing her graduate studies in social work, she became super-

Chinese Y.P.S. To Assist Concert

The regular meeting of the Chinese United Young People's was held on Friday. The meeting was called to order by the vice-president, Josephine Wong.

Lucy Chow took charge of the devotional period, during which the hymn "Jesus Shall Reign" was sung, and Lucy Chow read a scripture and a story from the "Pathfinder" was enjoyed by all. The devotional closed with a prayer by Mary Eng.

The intellectual theme was "Would Christ Revolve the Great Commission?" Missionary questions were asked by Daniel Chan and answered by Mary Eng.

It was decided to take part in the Christmas concert with the date set on December 23. The Young People are to take charge of decorating the church for the occasion.

New York, Nov. 19.—Mrs. Ogden Reid, vice-president of The New York Herald-Tribune, is the 1935 winner of the American Woman's Association award for eminent achievement.

Mrs. Reid, in accepting the award said the honor belongs to the newspaper with which she is associated rather than to her, and in general to the great body of newspapers which tried to serve their communities independently.

EARL'S DAUGHTER TO MARRY SOON

London, Nov. 19.—Engagement of Hon. Moyra Bessford, aged twenty-two, daughter of Lord Decies and granddaughter of George Jay Gould, to the Hon. Patrick Bellew, thirty brother of Lord Bellew, was announced to-day.

Visor of visitors for the Immigrants' Protective League, which had its offices in America's oldest settlement. About the same time she went there to live.

During the years ensuing, Miss Miller or — as she shortly became—Mrs. Rich, filled a variety of positions, including one with the Girls' Protective Bureau under the war department. For three years she acted as executive vice president of the Illinois League of Women Voters.

ENJOYS OUTSIDE ACTIVITIES

Gracious, ultra-feminine, clothes-conscious, with a brilliant mind melled by bubbling sense of humor, Hull House's new director is the epitome of the modern social worker. She lives her work, yet she finds time to play golf and go to the theatre with her husband, who is now a partner in a successful La Salle street brokerage firm.

And adroitly she lets you know that her acceptance of the salary-less task of carrying on the work begun by her brilliant predecessor is her way of voting confidence in the future of United States settlements.

"Back in 1928 many people argued that the day of settlements was done. The individuals whom they were designed to aid no longer needed their assistance. They had jobs. They were earning good salaries. They could afford to buy all the education and recreation that the settlements were giving them. But since the depression that argument has faded."

"To-day people without opportunity are looking to the settlements to show them how to enjoy their enforced leisure and make it bring them happiness. That is why I believe that the day of settlements is just dawning and that we at Hull House are only now embarking upon our era of greatest usefulness."

MAKE BABY'S SCHEDULE FIT HIS NEEDS, ADVISES MRS. ELDRED

If all children were as invariable as the clocks with which we try to regulate them, one schedule would fit all babies. But no one dealing with real babies expects any such miracle. They know that, while one baby may sleep from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. without a morsel of food, some other baby, just as well and healthy, may demand to be fed at 10 p.m. and 2 a.m.

The variance in sleeping habits continues into childhood. Children past one year of age may nap twice daily, or they may take only one nap. Children past two may nap but once a day, or refuse even that, and accept only a rest period. What is right is the number of sleeping hours which keeps each child healthy, growing and good natured.

SLEEPS FOURTEEN HOURS

Mrs. E. M. R. writes: "I am continuing a definite schedule of twelve hours of sleep at night and a two-hour nap in daytime for our two-and-one-half-year-old son. He has always done so well. Is this the thing to do?"

"Our chief trouble is the speed with which he drinks his milk. He cannot drink through a straw. He also eats very rapidly. I remind him of this constantly. I do not want to use his milk in other forms just to avoid his drinking it. He has also always disliked to drink water. We make him take small drinks through the day. How much of this does he need when he gets one quart of milk?"

LET HIM SLEEP

By all means continue the sleep habits as long as the child can sleep through the afternoon and still go to bed willingly at the regular bedtime. When he rebels against bedtime, shorten the nap period. You may have the leaflet, "How Many Hours Should Baby Sleep?" for a self-addressed and stamped envelope sent to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

If he is not upset by the speed with which he drinks his milk or eats his food, then why worry about

ANNOUNCEMENTS OF ENGAGEMENTS

Engagement notices sent in for publication in the social columns must be signed by one or other of the principals or by some responsible party. Such notices, if sent in unsigned, will not be published.

It? (I imagine either you or his father are also rapid eaters.) The probability is that a child who can ask for water would not suffer for it without demanding a drink. One encouragement to more generous water drinking would be to let the boy fill his own cup from the tap.

CHURCH MUSIC IS DISCUSSED

Stanley Bulley Addresses Conductors' and Organists' Association

Since the formation of the Victoria Conductors' and Organists' Association no meeting has evoked more interest than the monthly gathering held on Saturday last at the home of W. H. Muncy, president.

Interest was added to the meeting on account of the presence of Rev. C. G. McKenzie and Rev. E. F. Church of the Victoria Ministerial Association who came in response to the invitation of the conductors.

Several of the other ministers sent their regrets at being unable to attend. After the reading of the minutes and usual business Stanley F. Bulley, organist of Christ Church Cathedral, gave a most interesting paper on "Church Music and Public Worship." Discussion participated in by the conductors as well as the ministers followed.

Mr. Bulley held before the meeting the real purpose of music in the church and how it stimulated public worship. It was in man's nature to worship, he declared, and said that music brought out the noblest impulses. In selecting anthems, organ music and hymns, great care was necessary to choose only that which was fitting as an offering to God. Music was not for the entertainment of a few or to tickle the ears but to help people to sense the beauty of holiness.

BASIC PRINCIPLES

Several basic principles were then given as to how to distinguish good music from bad. An organist and choir leader has a great responsibility to educate the people to appreciate the best in church music. Open discussion was then invited and several present gave their view on the matter. W. C. Pye, in expressing his appreciation of Mr. Bulley's paper, stated that care must be taken not to have too much complex music in public worship, that a simple gospel hymn could be used very effectively. Mr. Pye, however, appreciated the fact that some of the great musical masterpieces could do a great deal to put the congregation in a reverent mood for the sermon to follow.

Regarding hymn tunes and the tempo P. T. C. Wickett suggested that the building must be taken into consideration. Hymn singing was a most important part of the service he argued. Several others concurred with this idea.

MANY LOVELY HYMNS

G. H. Peaker pleaded for a larger and wider range of hymns to be selected by the ministers. He said that some congregations seem to sing only their favorite hymns which were few in number. In the hymn book there were many lovely hymns never sung. Mr. Peaker, who also emphasized that the text of the hymn should be the guide to expression and tempo.

Mr. Bulley commended very highly the new hymn book of the United Church of Canada and claimed it was one of the finest he knew.

At the conclusion Mr. McKenzie and Mr. Church spoke very fittingly of music from the pastor's standpoint and said music should bring the soul nearer to God through worship. The serving of refreshments by Mrs. Muncy brought a happy meeting to a close.

The next meeting will be held on the third Saturday on January, no meeting will be held in December it was decided.

SET LIMIT FOR NEW AUDITORIUM

The city school board will have to construct an auditorium at a cost not exceeding $20,000 or five per cent of the city's revenue for the year 1936-37, according to a resolution passed at yesterday evening's meeting of the City Council.

The council was discussing details preparatory to starting work on the addition to the school.

An offer of $20 for the purchase of a lot on Wollaston Street was accepted by the Requisition Council last night from John Wright.

MAN CAN NOW TALK WITH GOD

MOSCOW, IDAHO.—"A new and revolutionary religious teaching based entirely on the misunderstood sayings of the Galilean Carpenter, and designed to show how we may find, understand and use the same ideal power which Jesus used in performing His so-called Miracles," is attracting world wide attention to its founder, Dr. Frank B. Robinson, noted teacher, author and lecturer.

"Psychiana," the new psychological religion, believes and teaches that it is to-day possible for every normal human being, understanding spiritual law as Christ understood it, to duplicate every work that the Carpenter of Galilee ever did—it believes and teaches that when He said, "The things that I do shall ye also do," He meant what He said, and meant it literally to all mankind, through all the ages.

Dr. Robinson has prepared a $600-word treatise on "Psychiana," in which he tells about his long search for the Truth, how he finally came to the full realization of an Unseen Power or force "so dynamic in itself that all other powers and forces fade into insignificance beside it"—how he learned to commune directly with the Living God, using this mighty, never-failing power to demonstrate health, happiness and financial success, and how any normal being may find and use it as Jesus did. He is now offering this treatise free to every reader of this paper who writes to him.

If you want to read this "highly interesting, revolutionary and fascinating story of the discovery of a great Truth," just send your name and address to Dr. Frank B. Robinson, 19-11th Street, Moscow, Idaho. It will be sent free and postpaid, without cost or obligation. Write the Doctor to-day. Copyright, 1935, Dr. Frank B. Robinson.—Advertisement.

WAGE SCALE IS DEBATED

City Council Works Executive to Recommend Pay Rate For Loan Projects

Until such time as the executive of the city's public works committee brings in a recommendation governing wage scales for projects included in the $100,000 loan works programme, men engaged on those undertakings will be paid the minimum wage as fixed by the provincial authorities.

Yesterday evening the matter was discussed from several angles by the City Council. Alderman John Worthington noted the city had to decide whether it was prepared to pay forty cents an hour, as was paid relief men, or forty-five cents an hour, the minimum wage on construction work.

Alderman Walter Luney questioned the feasibility of paying relief men forty cents and others forty-five.

BROWN'S MOTION
Alderman P. R. Brown moved the matter go to the executive of the public works committee to decide on the issue and to pay at least the minimum wage in the meantime.

Alderman Archie Willis moved the council make a strong recommendation that forty-five cents, if not fifty cents an hour, be paid. It was up to the city to try to keep wages up, he said, and give the laboring class a chance to get a little ahead of the game for a change.

Alderman R. A. C. Dewar suggested similar action, stating he thought the men should be given the best treatment possible. He asked what city men were paid and was told some of the regular employees got fifty cents an hour.

FOR REPORT
Alderman Brown's motion was put referring the matter to the public works executive for report back to the council.

Alderman Willis stated he favored fifty cents an hour to boost up wages paid by the contractors. He maintained that minimum wages too often became the maximum.

Alderman Alex Feden favored a forty-five-cent rate. Alderman Dewar again rose to state the gangs would be chosen on ability. Certainly, he said, the rate should not go below forty-five cents an hour, and if the workmen were as efficient as the city employees, they should be paid fifty cents an hour.

Alderman Worthington urged speed in distributing the money through wage channels. Alderman Andrew McGavin raised the question over the payment of men working on the Goldstream pipe line, stating they received forty cents an hour.

The council finally passed Alderman P. R. Brown's motion, referring the matter to the executive of the public works committee for a report and recommendation on the understanding the men would be paid a minimum wage to be set by the government.

PROJECTS APPROVE

Approval was given for immediate starts on the $700,000 Medina Street surface drain, the $400 road repair to Fairfield adjoining the Home Bay Cemetery, the $3,200 surface drain scheme for Cedar Hill Road north of Haultain Street to Acton Street, the Coronation Avenue and Ida Street surface drains, at a cost of $1,691, and the surface drain on Bank Street, south of Quinlan Street, which will cost $416.

The council also endorsed the recommendation that the city engineer be instructed to proceed with the construction of a concrete sidewalk, four feet wide, for a distance of 242 feet on Front Street, opposite Victoria West School, at a cost not to exceed $400. Alderman Worthington, in moving that work, stressed the fact it was largely a safety measure for the protection of school children.

Approval was also given the recommendation that the work already authorized for improving water pressure on Belmont Avenue and Cold Harbor Road, at an estimated cost of $3,000, be included in the $100,000 relief work programme.

MINOR BALL LOOPS MEET

Rickey, Frisch, Stengel and Dreesen Among Major Moguls at Session

Dayton, O., Nov. 19.—With major league gossip sounding an overture, baseball notables were here to-day for the thirty-fourth annual meeting of minor baseball leagues, opening officially to-morrow.

The major league contingent was led by Branch Rickey of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Frankie Frisch, manager of the former world champions, Casey Stengel of the Brooklyn Dodgers was here and also Charlie Dreesen, with a new one-year contract to manage the Cincinnati Reds in his pocket.

Rickey at once set at rest any question or rumor involving possible trading of the Dean brothers, star members of his hurling staff. "Not for a minute," would he listen to talk of trading or selling them, he said, adding Joe Medwick probably will remain with the club.

The speed skaters named were Alex Hurd, Frank Stank, Herb Plack and T. White. The figure skaters are Montgomery Wilson and Mrs. Constance Wilson Samuels, Toronto; Louis Bertram and Stewart Reburn.

BILLY EVANS IS THROUGH

Resigns as Manager of Cleveland Major League Baseball Team

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 19.—William G. Evans, general manager of Cleveland Indians for eight years, resigned yesterday.

Alva Bradley, president of the Cleveland Baseball Company, announced the resignation and said it had been accepted with regret. At the same time, Bradley announced the office of general manager was being discontinued, and that C. G. Stupich, chief scout for the Indians for fourteen years, had been appointed assistant to the president.

Evans, an umpire in the American League for twenty-two years before he became manager of the Cleveland club, said his plans were "indefinite." His contract expires November 27. He said his salary was reduced from $30,000 a year to $12,500 a year at the end of the 1933 season, with a bonus of 5 per cent of club profits, providing they reached $100,000. He said the contract offered for 1934 called for less than $12,500.

Amateur Athletic Union Bosses Launch Clean-up Storm

THE SPORTS MIRROR

Quick Action In Charges Against Football-hockey

Ottawa Rugby Club Suspended Until Investigation of Berry Case

ENTIRE HOCKEY LEAGUE IS OUT

By ELMAR DULMAGE
An athletic typhoon, the seriousness of which has yet to be determined, gained force in Canada today. It started last week when a whisk of a breeze blew up in Toronto, concerning the status of an Ottawa football player, within eight days it has developed into what looks like a clean-up storm.

Not in years has the amateur situation been so uproarious. There is one storm-centre at Halifax, where the nation's amateur leaders have gathered and are gathering for annual meetings. The football world has an alleged "great impersonation" case on its hands. No Olympic hockey team has been selected and the Michigan-Ontario Amateur Hockey League is under suspension.

SUSPEND OTTAWA CLUB
After looking on for several days, the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada jumped into the fight yesterday when President W. A. Fry, Dunnville, Ont., stamped a sort of unofficial suspension on Ottawa's football team. He said the Ottawa club must clear itself of suspicion.

This move was taken seven days after Edwin Allan, veteran sports editor, charged in The Toronto Mail and Empire that Roy Berry, star of the Ottawa football team, was playing under an assumed name and that his right name was Bohn Hilliard, former University of Texas football player and a semi-professional baseball player. Berry, or Hilliard, finished the Interprovincial Union football season Saturday, helping Ottawa defeat Toronto Argonauts. The defeat eliminated Argos from the race and made Hamilton Tigers champions. Berry left Ottawa for the United States immediately after the game and the amateur authorities started to operate.

President Fry, on route to the A.A.U. of C. annual meeting that opens in Halifax Thursday, warned amateur players against playing with or against members of the Ottawa Football Club until the club had cleared itself of suspicion.

Yesterday evening the Ottawa branch of the A.A.U. took Fry at his word and suggested the immediate suspension of every player in the Interprovincial Union. The branch asked Fry to produce the available evidence against Berry, alias Hilliard. In Toronto it was said by Tom Allison, president of the Argonauts, that Fry had demanded an investigation into the Berry case this week.

Should the A.A.U. of C. suspend the entire Big Four football circuit, Hamilton Tigers would be unable to proceed in the Canadian playdown. Queen's University, intercollegiate champions, would similarly be disqualified under A.A.U. rules because they played an exhibition game against Ottawa a week ago yesterday.

But the football tangle was just one part of the wind-blown picture. The A.A.U. of C. itself was preparing to deal with motions at Halifax which would permit amateurs to play with and against professionals. This was expected to cause the most bitter debate of the convention.

STORM SIGNALS OUT
Amateur week opened yesterday in Halifax with all storm signals flying. The tenth annual meeting of the Women's Amateur Athletic Federation had hardly started when the Ontario and Quebec delegates walked out, protesting that the marriage branch held sufficient proxies to control the convention.

The A.A.U. of C. made a sudden appearance on the hockey front, announcing the suspension of the Michigan-Ontario league through the Ontario Hockey Association. This difficulty was believed to have been caused in Detroit where the Michigan A.A.U. branch demanded a share of gate receipts and the league refused to comply.

United States amateur authorities suspended the United States teams in the circuit and the A.A.U. of C. was asked to follow suit, suspending Windsor Shamrocks and Windsor Motor. If the league operates after yesterday evening, it will do so as an independent outfit.

The development was a minor one (Turn to Page 12, Col. 8)

RANGERS WILL MEET DETROIT

New York Club Tackles Red Wings After Two Straight Defeats in N.H.L.

Detroit Red Wings, who have done no high flying as yet, will go into New York to-night to determine truth of reports that Lester Patrick's New York Rangers are not so hot this fall. In the early running of the National Hockey League race, the meeting of the American section teams is an important one.

Built to the satisfaction of Jack Adams, the Red Wing machine was to have started in fast tempo. It has played twice and managed to get a tie each time. If it does not click against Rangers, spinning somewhat from a double week-end defeat, there will be great disappointment in the ample Adams' bosom.

Other games on to-night's programme send Toronto Maple Leafs into Montreal to face Canadiens and New York Americans to Boston, where the Bruins are waiting. The Leafs-Canadians game has been spotted as likely to produce some brilliant play.

Buys Detroit Baseball Club

Detroit, Nov. 19.—Walter O. Briggs, Detroit industrialist who is a half owner of the world champion Detroit Tiger Baseball Club, announced to-day he had arranged to purchase the remaining fifty per cent interest in the club from Frank J. Navin, club president who died last week.

MANY AFTER AMERICANS

Three Parties Are Seeking to Secure Interest in New York Hockey Club

New York, Nov. 19.—New York hockey writers indulged in violent mental calisthenics yesterday trying to figure out where the financial control of the National Americans will come to rest.

Busy as one-armed goalies with the itch, the writers had the club falling into the control of such widely separated interests as Leo Dandurand and Joe Cattarini, Montreal; Colonel John Hammond, New York, and James Norris Sr., Chicago.

About the only thing that seemed certain was that the present owner of the hockey club, William Dwyer, is about to negotiate at least a partial sale of the Americans. Comment from the principals mentioned was negligible. The only direct word that could be raised came from Norris at Chicago. It was:

"I have no intention of entering into any kind of a deal to purchase the Americans."

MANY RUMORS
In the absence of official information, however, there was a record crop of rumors. Among them were the following:

That Norris, operator of Detroit Red Wings, holds Dwyer's note for $35,000 and with it an option to take over the Americans for a price reported as $150,000.

That Hammond, former boss of the New York Rangers, holds an option to take over the Americans, also for a reported sum of $150,000.

That Dandurand and Cattarini, ex-owners of Montreal Canadiens, have offered $200,000 for the Americans and will talk with Dwyer here to-morrow.

That Dwyer wishes to take the Montrealers into partnership, but has been tied by options.

That Dwyer plans to fly to Chicago yesterday to confer with Norris, who was balked by high winds, but that he will fly west to-day for that purpose.

BEAVERS FALL TO BUCKETEERS
University School Old Boys Humble Hudson's Bay Team 37 to 30

University School's Bucketeers, slow starting this season, hit their stride in a friendly game against the Hudson's Bay Beavers yesterday evening to register a 37 to 30 victory at the Memorial Hall.

The Bucketeers, making their play around their lanky centre, Reg Wrenman, piled up a 22 to 15 lead at half time and then scored basket after basket with the departmentals in the second half.

Allan LeMarquand, with fourteen, and Wrenman, with ten, led the Bucketeer sharpshooters, while Baxter, with fifteen, was outstanding for the Beavers.

Bill Naysmith refereed. The teams and individual scores follow:
Hudson's Bay Beavers—Williamson 2, Baxter 15, Fish 1, Fremont 4, Biddle 4, Clarke, Wilkinson 4, and McCulloch.
Bucketeers—Wrenman 10, Skillings 8, Miller 2, Billingsley 1, Poynts 2, Renwick, Tisdale, LeMarquand 14.

Ten of Puget Sound City's Best Will Compete in First International Ping-pong Tournament on Thursday, Friday and Saturday

With ten celluloid stars from Seattle announcing their intention to play here, Bob Crombie, secretary of the Victoria Table Tennis League, is looking forward to a record crowd to watch the first international table tennis tournament to be staged here on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

The event will take place in the Crystal Garden, and special seating accommodation is being arranged to handle the spectators. Eight tables will probably be used to run off the matches.

HEAVY LOCAL ENTRY
Twenty-five local players have already registered, though the entry list does not close until noon to-morrow.

Los Smith, manager of the Seattle Table Tennis Club, has been in communication with the secretary of the local ping-pong organization, and says that he will bring over ten of the best stars from across the border including the champion of the Puget Sound city.

A feature of the event, according to Crombie, will be a match between a selected Victoria team of eight to ten players, and the Seattle stars. Players from Vancouver will probably compete, though no reply has yet been received from the terminal city.

A meeting of the executive of the Table Tennis League has been called for this evening to draw up final plans for the tournament.

Hunting Notes

Week-end hunting reports show that deer are running in the Sooke River district. Five deer are known to have been killed in that vicinity Sunday and two at Shawnigan Lake.

George Anderson, 1041 Bay Street, secured a fine spike in the Sooke River district. He was accompanied by Stan "Red" Shemilt. Wally West and Alec Baron, Marigold, bagged a fork and a spike, respectively, also in that vicinity. Bert Leggett, Gore Street, and R. Redhead, 629 Canteen Road, hunting at Sooke, each bagged a 100-pound fork buck.

Jim Green, 448 Admirals Road, hunting at Shawnigan Lake Sunday, bagged two fine-sized forks.

Hunters have only one week now to secure a last minute feast of European partridges, pheasants and quail as the season for these three birds closes on Sunday. Local hunters state that pheasants and quail have been a little more plentiful this season than for the last few years.

It is the general opinion that the cold snap has started up north, starting an early migration of ducks, which at the present time has been exceptional for this time of year, with teal predominating. Hunters are warned of a new rule in the bag limit for ducks this year. From October 10 to November 30 the bag limit is twenty, but for the rest of the season only fifteen daily is allowed any individual hunter.

Amateur Athletic Union Bosses Launch Clean-up Storm

THE SPORTS MIRROR

RESIGNATION of Jimmy McMullan as manager of the Aston Villa Club in the English Football League brings to mind the fact that several other clubs have parted company during the last twelve months, chiefly through the lack of success of their clubs or differences of opinions with directors. Here are some of them: Charles Jones (Roth County), Richard Ray (Leeds), M. T. O'Brien (Queen's Park Rangers), James Hogan (Pulham), Percy Smith (Tottenham Hotspur), David Pratt (Clapton Orient), Andrew Cunningham (Newcastle) and Harold Wightman (Luton Town).

For sixty-one years the directors of the Villa refused to recognize the necessity of appointing a team manager. Last year they capitulated and broke with tradition by appointing McMullan as the club's first manager. McMullan has not experienced the best of luck. He paid Portsmouth a record fee of £10,750 for the services of their international centre half, Jimmy Allen. Unfortunately Allen has failed to settle down, and this is probably one of the reasons for the Villa's failure so far.

When things go wrong with a club the first thing people do is to look round for a scapegoat, and the manager usually has to "hold the baby." In the circumstances it is impossible to dissociate McMullan's action from the storm of criticism which has broken over his head since the famous club began its slide to the bottom of the league.

This is the time of the year when "scouts" are busy and football managers, having taken stock of their playing strength, enter the transfer market, either to buy or sell. Crystal Palace have figured prominently in the latest transfer news, and this is letting their inside right, Manders, go to Norwich City at a big fee, they have secured the services of three other players. Norwich paid their "biggest ever" cheque for Manders, in addition to which Thorpe, the experienced full back, figured in the double deal.

The Palace manager, Tom Bromley, immediately got busy with the Norwich cash and their best capture was J. Blackburn, centre forward from Queen's Park Rangers. While that deal was being negotiated, other representatives of the club were completing arrangements for the transfer to Exeter City of W. Cromption, the Palace's Welsh international full back who formerly assisted Clapton Orient.

In signing Blackburn the Palace have stolen a march on Everton, Wolverhampton and Sunderland, all of whom made persistent inquiries concerning this thorough, prolific-scoring leader. The Palace's other new man was Robert Birly, an outside right from Coventry, who was formerly with Everton. Manchester City beat Liverpool and other clubs in a race for the signature of Kellie McCulloch, the Belfast Celtic and Irish international forward, for which they paid £2,000. McCulloch is a versatile player, having appeared at inside right against England and right half against the Scottish League. He was born at Larne, and came into prominence with Newton Rangers, from whom he went to Belfast Celtic in 1927.

CAN YOU tie this? Saturday's feature rugby game ended in a draw. The major basketball attraction that evening finished in a deadlock. The outstanding football game of the United States on that day finished all square. Sunday school football teams playing in their regular schedule were bracketed when their matches ended. An intermediate rugby game was completed without definite result and out at Colwood a pair of basketball teams were forced into overtime to unknot a 22 to 22 tie-up.

This is how the games ended: Wanderers Whites 3, Fifth Brigade Intermediates 3. Blue Hibbons 41, Seattle K. of P. 42. Notre Dame 6, Army 6. Lake Hill soccer team 1, Metropolitans 1. Centennial soccer team 3, Baptists 3. At Colwood, the Island Tug Red Blacks and Colwood played to a 22 to 22 draw until overtime, when the Red Blacks won.

Duncan rugby fifteen will journey here Sunday to engage the Navy Rugger at the naval recreation grounds, Admirals Road, in an exhibition fixture. The kick-off is scheduled for 2.30 o'clock. The up-land squad is making a return visit, the sailors journeying north earlier in the season.

Quick Action In Charges Against Football-hockey

Ottawa Rugby Club Suspended Until Investigation of Berry Case

ENTIRE HOCKEY LEAGUE IS OUT

By ELMAR DULMAGE
An athletic typhoon, the seriousness of which has yet to be determined, gained force in Canada today. It started last week when a whisk of a breeze blew up in Toronto, concerning the status of an Ottawa football player, within eight days it has developed into what looks like a clean-up storm. Not in years has the amateur situation been so precarious. There is one storm-centre at Halifax, where the nation's amateur leaders have gathered and are gathering for annual meetings. The football world has an alleged "great impersonation" case on its hands. No Olympic hockey team has been selected and the Michigan-Ontario Amateur Hockey League is under suspension.

SUSPEND OTTAWA CLUB
After looking on for several days, the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada jumped into the fight yesterday when President W. A. Fry, Dunnville, Ont., stamped a sort of unofficial suspension on Ottawa's Interprovincial Union football team. He said the Ottawa club must clear itself of suspicion.

This move was taken seven days after Edwin Allan, veteran sports editor, charged in The Toronto Mail and Empire that Roy Berry, star Rough Rider halfback, was playing under an assumed name and that his right name was Bohn Hilliard, former University of Texas football player and a semi-professional baseball player. Berry or Hilliard finished the Interprovincial Union football season Saturday, helping Ottawa defeat Toronto Argonauts. The defeat eliminated Argos from the race and made Hamilton Tigers champions. Berry left Ottawa for the United States immediately after the game and the amateur authorities started to operate.

President Fry, en route to the A.A.U. of C. annual meeting that opens in Halifax Thursday, warned amateur players against playing with or against members of the Ottawa Football Club until the club had cleared itself of suspicion. Yesterday evening the Ottawa branch of the A.A.U. took Fry at his word and suggested the immediate suspension of every player in the Interprovincial Union. The branch asked Fry to produce the available evidence against Berry, alias Hilliard. In Toronto it was said by Tom Allison, "president" of the Argonaut football club and member of the football executive, that Argos would discuss the question demanding an investigation into the Berry case this week.

Should the A.A.U. of C. suspend the entire Big Four football circuit, Hamilton Tigers would be unable to proceed in the Canadian playdowns. Queen's University, intercollegiate champions, would similarly be disqualified under A.A.U. rules because they played an exhibition game against Ottawa a week ago yesterday. But the football tangle was just one part of the wind-blown picture. The A.A.U. of C. itself was preparing to deal with motions at Halifax which would permit amateurs to play with and against professionals. This was expected to cause the most bitter debate of the convention.

STORM SIGNALS OUT
Amateur week opened yesterday in Halifax with all storm signals flying. The tenth annual meeting of the Women's Amateur Athletic Federation had hardly started when delegates from Ontario and Quebec walked out, protesting that the maritime branch held sufficient proxies to control the convention. STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

Ninety-six years old and still practicing medicine after three-quarters of a century, Dr. John Wesley still makes the rounds of his patients, answering calls night and day in his automobile, in Springfield, Mo. He drives his own car, and averages about 100 miles per day. He was born in 1839 and began the practice of medicine twenty-one years later after working under Chicago's leading physicians of almost a century ago. He has wandered the world over during his career, serving with diamond hunters in Africa, and with the army and navy of the United States. To-day he is particularly interested in glands and their functions, and his specialty is "reducing the fat and building up the lean." Dr. Wesley's hobby is art, and he finds time to turn out busy remarks, sketches, pen sketches. He keeps up on new developments in politics and science, and has had a keen interest in government ever since he cast his first vote for Lincoln before the Civil War. Oil of wintergreen derives its name from the woodland plant of the same name, from which the oil may be distilled. Genuine oil of wintergreen, having the same composition, is produced in larger quantities by distillation of the bark of sweet birch of New England and Canada. It can also be made synthetically. 1781 when it was established by a group of Mexican colonists, failed completely to live up to its churchy name two generations later. By 1854 it had developed into a wild western town where gungy punctured the routine of life—and where violent death took an average of one of its 4,000 residents every day of the year.

Queen's Appears Out of Play-off

Intercollegiate Football Union Champions Will Probably Lose Chance to Seek National Title; Tricolor Will Be Kept Out By Two-year-old Rule

Toronto, Nov. 19.—The Intercollegiate Football Union stepped briskly out of the Canadian play-off picture to-day, having been shoved into it unwillingly in the first place, and left it up to the Canadian Rugby Union whether Queen's University would challenge for the national championship. It is written on the college union books that intercollegiate champions shall not go on in the Canadian playdowns. It was put there more than two years ago and a great desire on the part of Queen's, crowned champions last Saturday, to set aside the rule will be without effect. President M. A. MacKenzie of the Intercollegiate Union said yesterday evening the union would not challenge for the Canadian title. If Queen's wished to go ahead, he said, they would be representing only Queen's University. It was not known at once whether the athletic board of the Kingston University would try to have the C.R.U. accept its challenge, or what step the C.R.U. would take should Queen's ask permission to enter the playdowns. It was believed extremely unlikely the tricolor team would play any more football this season. Hamilton Tigers would be idle until a week from Saturday should Queen's drop out. The O.R.F.U. title will be decided Saturday when Sarnia Imperials play their second play-off game against Toronto Balmy Beach. Imperials hold an eight-point lead in the total-points series. A suggestion that Winnipeg's western champions might come out Saturday to play Hamilton in the Canadian semi-final was coldly received in the Manitoba capital, it was learned here. The Athletic Park will be equipped shortly with shower baths, it was decided by the City Council at its meeting yesterday evening. The showers will be installed along with new conveniences and dressing rooms, will be rearranged under the grandstand. The entire work will cost approximately $550. Alderman John Worthington, chairman of the parks board, yesterday evening informed the council his committee had saved enough out of its annual appropriation to make the improvements at the big enclosure. "We have the money. We've saved it throughout the year and we are going to apply it to that work. It is something which has been needed there for many years," Alderman Worthington declared. The announcement will doubtless be greeted with warm appreciation by the competitive sporting public of Victoria, which uses the enclosure for soccer and summer sports. Up to the present, players coming from the field, particularly on a wet day, are required to make their way home in clothes dripping with rain and mud.

Cue Stars Battle at Chicago To-night For Three Cushion Championship

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Willie Hoppe, New York, for nearly two generations idol of United States billiard fans, meets Welker Cochran, San Francisco, to-night for the world's three cushion championship. The other stars of the game, Johnny Layton, Redalia, Mo., the retiring champion, and Augie Kleckhefer, Chicago, ten times winner of the crown, fell by the wayside. Cochran, present king of the 18.2 bailline players, has held the three cushion title before, while Hoppe, the one-time boy wizard, now forty-eight, grey at the temple and with baldness creeping on, has won about everything in billiards except the three cushion title. He now holds the 18.1 bailline crown. Four players were contesting on a round robin schedule for fourth place. They are Johnny Layton, Hall, Jay Boseman, Vallejo, Cal., and Kinney Matsuyama, Tokio, Japan.

Hunting Notes

Week-end hunting reports show that deer are running in the Sooke River district. Five deer are known to have been killed in that vicinity Sunday and two at Shawnigan Lake. George Andrews, 1061 Bay Street, secured a fine spike in the Sooke River district. He was accompanied by Stan "Red" Ghemilt. Wally West and Alec Baron, Marigold, bagged a fork and a spike, respectively, also in that vicinity. Bert Leggett, Gore Elix, and R. Redhead, 629 Canteen Road, hunting at Sooke, each bagged a 100-pound fork buck. Jim Green, 443 Admirals Road, hunting at Shawnigan Lake Sunday, bagged two fine-sized forks. Hunters have only one week now to secure a last minute feast of European partridge, pheasant and quail as the season for these three birds closes on Sunday. Local hunters state that pheasants and quail have been a little more plentiful this season than for the last few years. It is the general opinion that the cold snap has started up north, starting an early migration of ducks, while at the present time has been exceptional for this time of year, with teal predominating. Hunters are warned of a new rule in the bag limit for ducks this year. From October 19 to November 30 the bag limit is twenty, but for the rest of the season only fifteen daily is allowed any individual hunter.

HIGH SCHOOLS IN TIE GAME

Victoria and Oak Bay Continue Howard Russell Rugby Series With 3 to 3 Draw

On the Cranmore Road grounds yesterday Oak Bay High School and Victoria battled to a 3 to 3 tie in the second of best out of three series for the Howard Russell rugby trophy. Each side secured its points in the first half. In the game the week before on the Victoria grounds the Victorians hung up a 6 to 3 victory. The next game will be played Friday on the Fernwood grounds.

The Oak Bay team had the advantage of playing down hill on the uneven ground in the first half but Victoria opened on the aggressive although they were two players short for some time.

Both teams showed better leather handling than in the first game. Oak Bay cleared the ball best from the scrum and one of the features of the game was Mickey Murray's solo efforts to cross the line for the Bays.

VICTORIA SCORES
Victoria hung up the first counter in the first five minutes of the game. Oak Bay had kicked the ball over their own line and were trying to down it for a twenty-five-yard kick when Varney, a new man on the Victoria team, neatly seized the opportunity to get the ball down for a try. J. Coles' kick for extra points was unsuccessful.

Soon after this there were some tense moments when Victoria High School had several line-outs in the Oak Bay five-yard line. Fine fighting work of the Oak Bay defence kept Victoria from scoring.

For the latter part of the first half Oak Bay did a lot of the attacking. They succeeded in getting a free kick on the twenty-five-yard line but H. Clarke's kick from a difficult angle failed to register points.

Mickey Murray made a great attempt when he snatched the ball on the twenty-five-yard line from a melee and tried a drop kick. It was low.

Oak Bay's score came within five minutes of the halftime whistle close minutes of the halftime whistle close to the Victoria line. Frank Ward managed to down the ball behind the Victoria line after it had been dribbled over. H. Clarke's kick for the extra points was wide. The second half was fairly even.

Wally Stipe refereed. The teams followed:
Victoria High—W. Fricker, F. Smith, R. Williams, B. Brown, B. Wimby, J. Coles, R. Coles, J. Russell, D. Bray, C. Langan, J. Stewart, T. Daise, L. Alexander, V. Varney and F. Doherty.

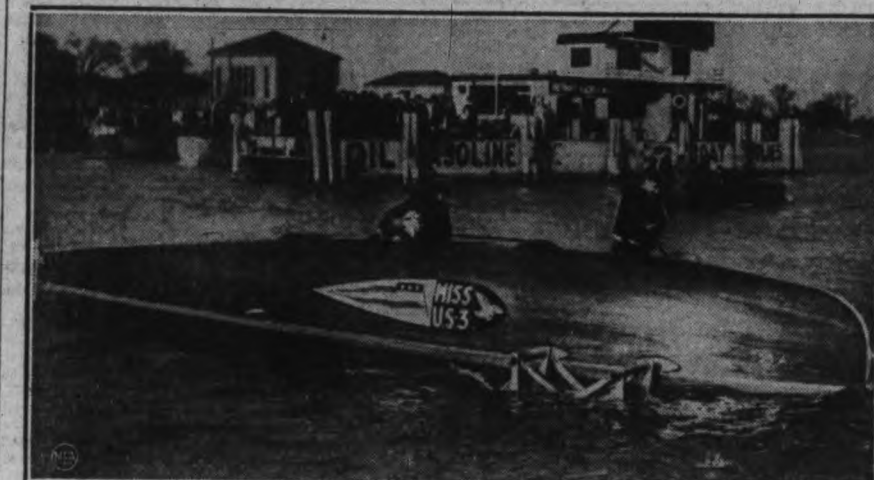

Oak Bay—S. Davies, H. Clarke, V. Miller, H. Brown, G. Clarke, M. Murray, G. Murdoch, F. Ward, M. Ley, P. Palin, R. MacKay, G. Tibbory, S. Yates, J. Davey and T. Piddock.

Further Plans For International Gala

Vancouver Island Swimming League Delegates Frank Hyslop to Seek Competitors From Pacific Northwest For Monster Meet Here Early in New Year

In an effort to secure swimmers from the Pacific Northwest to compete here in an international indoor swimming gala, Frank Hyslop, who presided at a meeting of the Vancouver Island Amateur Swimming League, held at the Crystal Garden yesterday evening, was authorized to communicate and line-up competitors to take part in the event.

It is the aim of the association to hold this classic early in the year, probably in January or February. They hope to be able to encourage the Washington State girls' relay team, present holders of the world championship to take part, and also Jack Medley, who holds several world swimming championships.

If communication by letter fails, Hyslop will journey to Seattle, and from there get in touch with the various swimming clubs in Washington and Oregon, and endeavour to encourage the members to participate.

If these arrangements come through in the proper form, it should prove to be one of the most popular aquatic events ever staged in a local pool.

WOULD IMPROVE GALAS
Bob Smirl, Bill Robertson and Ernie Pedersen, representing the Y.M.C.A. V.A.S.C. and Pacific Clubs, respectively, were appointed a committee under the chairmanship of Smirl to look into the possibility of arranging more extensive programmes for the next three league galas. They will discuss the possibility of having draw and handicap relay races; the promotion of girls' diving; the making of swimming distances longer in the local galas, it being pointed out that longer distances were necessary because the Olympic and major galas are not run on such short distances; the promotion of a comedy stunt with teams from the three clubs taking part.

A committee of three headed by Charles MacKay, Y.M.C.A., was authorized to look after the arranging of telephone bridge parties. These will be held to swell the association's Olympic fund.

Hyslop gave a report of the British Columbia association meeting, held recently in Vancouver and attended by him.

WRESTLER TO FIGHT BOXER

Ray Steels and Kingfish Levinsky in Novel Bout at St. Louis To-night

St. Louis, Nov. 19.—Kingfish Levinsky and Ray Steels, leaders of opposing schools of ring tactics, tangle here to-night in a mixed match to determine whether the boxer or wrestler is supreme.

Levinsky, the Chicago fish peddler who "puts jumps under their lamps," will expound the thesis that a round-house punch, well thrown, is the most potent form of ring conduct. Steels, on the contrary, is known to profess the belief that an opponent thrown into the audience is more likely to stay there than one knocked over the ropes.

His followers predict he will tie the King into a pretzel within five rounds.

Edmonton Scores Odd Goal Victory

Survives Great Rally of Calgary Tigers to Register 5 to 4 Win in Northwest Hockey League; Vancouver and Portland in 2 to 2 Deadlock

After seventy minutes of hockey, featured by fast skating and heavy body-checking, Portland Buckaroos and Vancouver Lions failed to settle their argument at Vancouver yesterday evening. The 2 to 2 score gave a good indication of the play.

Edmonton Eskimos, meanwhile, playing at Calgary, spoiled the opening of Northwest Hockey League activities in that city when they outscored the Tigers 5 to 4. The victory revenge a 4 to 2 defeat Calgary handed Eskimos at the Edmonton league opening Saturday.

The Vancouver game started with a burst of speed which was well maintained throughout the first two periods, although sharpshooters of both teams were unable to beat the smart goaltending by Johnny Clark, and the veteran, Andy Aitkenhead. Both goalies made many stops while flat on the ice, and Aitkenhead was bowled over more than once by incoming forwards unable to stop. Vancouver was given two penalty shots, both taken by Creasy, who, on his first attempt, in the first period, hit the post, and in the second period was outsmarted by Aitkenhead.

OPENS SCORING
The third period had progressed past the seven-minute mark before Tip O'Neill, first-string winger, opened the scoring on a solo rush that carried him through the entire Portland team.

Ralph Blythe equalized four minutes later, practically duplicating O'Neill's goal. Except for the use of a scoop shot, that fooled Clark. A minute and a half from the end of the third period, Brian Hestall gave the Lions a goal they probably thought would decide the match, but Walter McCartney gave Jack Arbour a pass in front of the Lions' net, twenty-seven seconds after the face-off, and the game was shoved into overtime.

In the overtime period, both teams tried hard for a win, but kept their defences intact.

The first goal of the Calgary game was scored by Bob Gilmour, Tiger defenceman, on a solo rush in the first period. Lorrin Mercer, of the Eskimo defence, tied it up in the second, hitting Ronnie Martin's rebound past Sam Timmins. As the third period progressed Edmonton built up a 5 to 1 lead through scores by Ed Carrier, a rookie from Prince Albert; Art Townsend, and a pair by Les Whittles, the right winger, Seattle traded for their new playing manager, Art Oagne.

In the troubled hockey sea, Canada is without an Olympic team since the partial break-up of Halifax Wolverines and the disbanding of the Maritime Hockey League. The Canadian amateur Hockey Association is to arrange for representation this week. It was believed that Arthur Mac, runners-up to Halifax in the Canadian playoffs last spring, might be invited to go to the Olympic Games in Germany, or that Port Arthur and Montreal Royals, eastern finalists last season, might be called on to play a series, the winner getting the assignment overseas.

TORCHY PEDEN ARRIVES HOME

Victoria's Famous Bike Rider Visits Parents; Denies Engagement Rumors

Torchy Peden, world's six-day bicycle champion, returned to town at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Peden, 530 Princess Avenue.

Torchy finished riding in the six-day bike race in Chicago on Saturday night. On Sunday he had lunch with Lynn Patrick, Victoria boy, who is playing with the New York Rangers, and in the evening he had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Lester Patrick. Mrs. Patrick arrived in Chicago that morning from Victoria to spend the winter in the east with Lester, who is vice-president and manager of the New York Rangers.

On Sunday afternoon Torchys spent an hour and a half with Clem Loughlin, manager of the Chicago Black Hawks. Clem will be remembered by many hockey fans in Victoria as he spent seven years here with the Victoria Cougars and was their captain during the years when they were world's champions in 1925.

"It was just like being in Victoria," said Torchys. "Seeing so many of your own folks. They were all well and Clem sent his best regards to his friends here."

As soon as Torchys had finished celebrating with the Victorians and the hockey game between the Rangers and Black Hawks in Chicago he hopped aboard an airplane and arrived in Seattle last night.

NO WEDDING BELLS

When questioned as to the announcement from Chicago that he would become the third husband of Baroness Fern Adria Torchys laughed out loud and said he thought someone was trying to get their name in the paper. He admitted that he had been a good friend of the baroness but there would be no wedding bells.

Torchys said he will remain here until late next week. He will then fly to New York, where he will ride in the big six-day race with Norman Hill, the California speedster.

"Yes, Hill is one of the leading riders," said Torchys. "And I expect to fight up with the leaders. Hill is the only man with the exception of Winter, that I will have had this year, who is big enough to give me a decent push when I have to dive from the top half of the track into the bowl."

"Yes, I know I haven't been winning racing lately," said Torchys in answer to a question on what had happened to his winning streak. "But I'm in shape now and given any kind of luck I hope to have several wins before the season is over."

He has been booked for both six-day races in New York and Chicago and has plenty of other engagements to keep him busy and also to keep his bank account from sagging.

It looks as though the team of Peden and Peden will be in the cycling game next year. Torchys said to-day that he was quite pleased with the way his young brother, Doug, shaped up during his riding on eastern tracks last summer.

"I'm still telling the other riders that they'll have to look out for us when we get going," Torchys said.

HOTHOUSE MEN FEAR TARIFF

Hot-house tomato growers on Vancouver Island are fearful of the effect of the tariff reduction on their produce.

"If the dump duties and seasonal duties are removed, we will be ruined," George Riddle, president of the British Columbia Hot-house Tomato and Cucumber Marketing Board, declared to-day.

The Canadian market would be swamped with cheap tomatoes from the southern states, he said.

"Florida tomatoes were selling in New York at $1 to $1.75 a crate this year," Mr. Riddle said. "The last report I got showed 800 carloads of surplus spring crop from Florida on the fourteen main markets of the United States."

"This is produced by cheap negro labor. We cannot possibly compete against it. Cost of production for hot-house tomatoes here runs around $2.50 a crate."

Mr. Riddle is leaving to-night for Toronto where he will attend a meeting to form a Chamber of Agriculture. After that he will go to Ottawa to present the case of the hot-house tomato growers.

There are 245 hot-house firms producing tomatoes in the province, over half of which are on the island. Altogether Mr. Riddle estimates that there are about 1,000 people employed in raising hot-house tomatoes on the island.

Cheaper Water Cuts Revenue

Reduced rates given on water domestically consumed in the city from June 15 to September 15 resulted in the consumption of 682,063 cubic feet more than for the same period last year, but yielded returns $2,118.45 less than was paid in for the same months of 1934. Information to that effect was provided in a report from G. M. Irwin, city water commissioner, read to the City Council yesterday evening.

KLIEG LIGHTS ON HIGHWAY

Late travelers on the Island Highway last night found an unusual activity, glaring lights, and policemen directing traffic in the neighborhood of the Craigflower Bridge.

Until 2 o'clock this morning the cast and production staff of the Central Film production "Stop, Look and Love" were at work on location at the old Craigflower school, one of the historic spots of the island. Powerful transformers hooked on to the B.C. Electric power lines provided the current for batteries of Klieg lights trained on the school, for the sound recording equipment, and for the motor of the massive camera, mounted on a tripod heavy enough to carry a small-sized gun.

Two Saanich police officers were stationed on the highway to regulate traffic, and keep the roadway clear during the actual shooting of the various takes.

This afternoon, after a morning's rest, the company will probably go out on location again, taking advantage of the good light.

Work on the film, owing to unexpected difficulties of weather and in the studios at the Willows, has been delayed considerably, but reports from Columbia Pictures, who are processing the film in Hollywood, state that the results obtained have been highly satisfactory. Kenneth G. Bishop, producer, said at the Dominion Hotel this morning.

Central Films is making the picture for Columbia to comply with the British import quota regulations.

YOUNG WOMAN HIT BY TRUCK

Miss Margaret C. Motion Suffers Head Injuries in Downtown Accident

Miss Margaret C. Motion, 3226 Maple Street, suffered severe head injuries in a traffic accident at the corner of Government and Fort Streets, shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Miss Motion, according to police, was knocked down by a truck driven south on Government Street, by David E. Ewing, 2313 Rutledge Street.

She was a passenger in a street car and had alighted into the safety zone at the intersection, outside the C.P.R. office. She was struck just as she stepped out of the zone towards the curb, eyewitnesses said.

Miss Motion was taken into Williams's Drug Store where first aid was rendered by L. Overton before the arrival of the C. & C. ambulance which removed her to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Miss Motion is well known in the city, being a former usher at the Capitol Theatre. Eyewitnesses stated she was bleeding badly from the back of the head when picked up.

HYZKA AGAIN IS CONVICTED

Found Guilty on Four of Five Charges of Possession; Total Now Eight

Four more convictions were added to the list against John Hyzka, escaped prisoner wanted for jail-breaking at Penitentiary, in the City Police Court this morning when the total convictions rose to eight, including one in which the value of the goods was more than $25, on which he elected summary trial.

He was remanded until to-morrow morning for sentence. Five charges were preferred against him this morning, but he was dismissed on one for lack of evidence.

All charges were of retaining stolen goods in his possession, and to all he pleaded not guilty.

The convictions marked the successful police investigation of robberies at the homes of Martin Cave, 305 Moss Street; James Strang, Richmond Road, and J. W. Givens, Fairfield Road.

SILVERWARE RECOVERED

The most serious of the charges was that involving the theft of silverware from Mr. Cave's home, which was entered on November 2 and rings and silverware valued at $500 were stolen.

Evidence in all cases was similar, the goods being found either on the accused's person at the time of his arrest, in the city by Constable Smith and Chief John Syme of the Oak Bay Police, or in the room which he engaged in a downtown hotel, where he registered as Murray Henderson.

The charge on which he was dismissed was one in which he was alleged to have had twelve silver forks and six silver knives, stolen from Mr. Strang's home, in his possession. These were found in the room he had occupied at the hotel.

There was no evidence of the fact he was the tenant of the room when the goods were found. The magistrate gave him the benefit of the doubt in this case.

In a later case, however, when he was charged with possession of Mr. Cave's silverware, which was also found in the room, it was proved he had paid in advance for the room and was the tenant on the day the silver was found.

NOW UNDER SENTENCE

The accused is now under sentence of twenty-three months at Penitentiary and is expected to be returned to the interior city for trial for breaking jail, after being sentenced to-morrow. He made no comment when given the opportunity to do so at to-day's hearing. He said the statements he had made during the hearing yesterday were all he had to make and there was nothing more to add. In these statements he said all the silverware and jewelry was given him by the tenant of the room and he did not know it was stolen.

William E. Ferriday and his son, Enoch, and Leslie Williams, taxi-drivers, were arraigned in the City Police Court this morning charged with operating taxis at less than the minimum rates set by by-law. All pleaded not guilty and were remanded until Thursday for hearing.

The weekly card party of the Victoria West Liberal Social Club will be held this evening in the clubrooms, 414 Skinner Street. Prizes will be given and refreshments served. All Liberals and friends are invited to attend.

W. E. Harper of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Saanich, will give his monthly radio address over station CFTV, Victoria, at 7:15 o'clock this evening. His subject will be "What Astronomers Read."

ESQUIMALT COURT OF REVISION SET

Reeve Alexander Lockley and Councillors Heald and Frederick G. Eaton will sit as a court of revision on the Esquimalt municipal by-laws at 7:30 p.m. December 10, in the Municipal Hall, it was decided at last night's meeting of the municipal council.

Silver Action Caused Flutter

S. B. S. Golds of Shanghai Power Company Takes a Holiday

Stopping off here en route from China to England, S. B. S. Golds, electrical engineer with the Shanghai Power Company, is at the Empress Hotel with his wife to-day, having disembarked from the Ss. Empress of Japan, inbound from the Orient.

The landing of Japanese marines at Shanghai following the murder of a Japanese national had not occurred when Mr. Golds left the Chinese port.

The chief excitement there at the time was the decision of the Chinese Government to nationalize silver.

"This action caused quite a flutter in the east," said Mr. Golds. After looking over Victoria, Mr. and Mrs. Golds will proceed to New York via Banff.

In New York he will confer with executives of the Electric Bond and Share Company, of which the Shanghai Power Company is a subsidiary.

Then he and his wife will take passage by the Majestic to spend a holiday in England.

Sees Treaty In Favorable Light

The Canada-United States trade agreement will clear away barriers which have been tending toward economic strangulation, Premier Patullo said in a brief comment this morning after examining the details of the pact.

Generally speaking, he believed the reaction in British Columbia was favorable. Some interests had expressed alarm, but he thought their fears might be premature.

"When the arrangement is put into actual operation those who are inclined to look upon it unfavorably will have a better opportunity to judge the real reaction," he said.

Morkill Heads Garden Group

Chosen President of Vancouver Island Horticultural Society

Alan B. Morkill, well-known local gardener and president of the Victoria branch of the American Rock Garden Society, was elected president of the Vancouver Island Horticultural Association, when members from Victoria and the southern district of the island gathered in the City Hall recently.

He succeeds F. R. Leighton, who declined to stand for office again. Mr. Leighton, however, was elected vice-president.

W. H. Warren was chosen secretary, and E. M. Whyte, treasurer.

Arrangements were made to stage the association's annual Spring Flower Show on Friday and Saturday, April 24 and 25, 1936.

Plans were drawn up to again put on a garden festival, which proved such a success this year. Many of the finest private gardens in Victoria and vicinity will be thrown open to the public during the week of the flower show.

The Royal Horticultural Society's special silver jubilee medal was presented to Mrs. E. H. Koon of Cobble Hill, who obtained the largest number of points at the Spring Flower Show in April, by Mr. Leighton.

Regret was expressed by the members at the resignation of the president and secretary, Mrs. E. L. Hammond.

USES PLANE IN TRAPPING

Vancouver Youth Starts
Something New in Age-old
Business of the North

Edmonton, Nov. 19.—Canada's only northland trapper operating his own airplane, J. C. P. Daisel, twenty-seven, dared death Saturday when he landed his two-seater monoplane on the thin ice of Mackenzie River ship at Fort Simpson, N.W.T.
A key is a channel joining two rivers.
Unhappily, the aviator swept over the northern settlement and seeing the river still running open risked the landing. With him was George Taylor, Edmonton, his co-engineer, who kept the craft flying over Daisel's far-flung trapline up and down the Mackenzie River basin this fall.
The youthful adventurer, the first to introduce such modern methods into the ancient art of trapping and what may revolutionize the north's great industry, plans to leave on a 976-mile flight to Edmonton with his load of marten and fox pelts.
Daisel, sturdy and of a medium stature, left his home in Vancouver when seventeen years to take up a life of adventure along the northern British Columbia Coast. Later carrying only a rifle, a blanket and a few necessities, young Daisel trudged across the mountains from the Yukon to Fort Simpson.
His ability to "live off the land" and his habit of wandering over the northland, appearing first in the Yukon, then at Fort Liard or Fort Simpson earned him the reputation of "mystery man" among the natives. Northerners claim some Indians are afraid of the youth. They believe he has supernatural powers of endurance.
This summer Daisel came out of the north, joined the Edmonton and Northern Alberta Aero Club. He obtained his private license July 26, and won his commercial wings September 12.

DUNSYRE ARRIVES FROM CALIFORNIA

Coming here to be converted into a barge for the carriage of sawdust, the once proud sailing ship Dunsyre arrived in the Inner Harbor this afternoon from San Francisco, in tow of the Ss. Anyox, which went from Victoria last week to the Golden Gate port.
Built in Scotland, the Dunsyre sailed the Seven Seas for many years before being finally laid up on a mud bank on the shores of San Francisco Bay.
She was purchased earlier in the month by the Island-Tug and Barge Company for service in northwest waters. She will follow several other fine sailing ships, which were brought here a year ago and made into barges.

U.S. Secretary of Commerce Says Navy Needs Modern Auxiliary; in Wartime Nation Would Need 900 Merchant Ships

New York, Nov. 19.—Warning against a potential shortage of merchant ships in war emergency, Secretary of Commerce Roper yesterday evening projected the possibility of government ownership of the merchant marine.
The Commerce Secretary advanced these arguments before the American Merchant Marine Conference as reasons why conflicting interests must be willing to make concessions on new subsidy legislation.
"Let us say here with great frankness," Roper said, "that we are at this critical point in our merchant marine situation when the industry must support an approach of this kind if government ownership and operation is to be delayed or prevented."
Discussing present conditions on the merchant fleet, he said:
"It is well known and deeply lamentable that while we are building up our navy to treaty strength, we are doing virtually nothing to supply the navy with modern auxiliaries. Even as it exists to-day, the navy would find our merchant marine inadequate for its emergency requirements, especially in speed."
"When war treaty strength is finally reached, the disparity between our first and second lines of defence will be still more strikingly apparent unless in the meantime we build up the merchant marine."
"Official figures recently compiled show that in the event of a major campaign, the present-day United States would need 900 merchant ships, totaling approximately 6,000,000 gross tons. Some idea of what this means is obtained from the statement that we have only 488 carriers of goods and passengers in the foreign trade, of approximately 9,065,000 gross tons."
"Withdrawal of the required amount of tonnage for defence purpose from the merchant fleet would paralyze our commerce, foreign and domestic, and endanger the importation of something like thirty essential raw materials without which it would be virtually impossible to conduct a protracted war with a foreign power."
The Secretary proposed a programme "that will look to a gradual decrease of subsidies and a strengthening of the industry through non-governmental financing and development."

GREAT DISPARITY

Week-end Bus Fares Extended Half Day

The popular low week-end bus fares which have been featured to all island points by the Vancouver Island Coach Lines, have been extended to include the Friday morning "northbound" and "southbound" schedules.
This extension has been granted in order to enable those people who wish to travel north or south of Nanaimo to start their journey in the morning, instead of at noon as has been the case hitherto.
Effective Friday, November 22, and every week-end thereafter, the low excursion rate of single fare and a quarter for the round trip will be good going from any time on Friday until midnight the following Sunday. Returning, the passengers may leave their destination any time until midnight the Monday following.
It is expected that this extension will be of use to many island residents and should add to the popularity of these low return fares.

HARBOR BOARD TO COME WEST

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—The New Central Harbor Board controlling Canada's coast ports will leave for Vancouver early in December, it was learned today. The precise date of departure has not been fixed.
At present the board is reviewing information gathered in a personal inspection of the ports of Montreal, Quebec, Chiboucti, Three Rivers, Saint John and Halifax.

AMERICAN CREWS GIVEN WARNING

Los Angeles, Nov. 19.—American crews that ship aboard ocean freighters carrying war supplies for the Italian-Ethiopian trouble zone travel at their own risk, union maritime leaders here have been advised in a telegram from Secretary of State Hull.
Secretary Hull's message was in reply to a query sent after the Maritime Federation of the Pacific Coast ordered the crew of the freighter Oregon to halt loading 41,000 gallons of aviation gasoline believed intended for fighting planes in the Italian Somaliland.
Officers of the ship denied that the gasoline was bound for that location, and the Bulk Carriers Corporation, operators of the Oregon, declined to comment.
